CITY OWNS MODEL PLANT.

Five Miles of Main Brings Pure Spring Water to Over 250 Patrons. The Plant Is Self-Sustaining.

Delavan justly prides herself upon having the finest waterworks plant of any city of her size in the state.

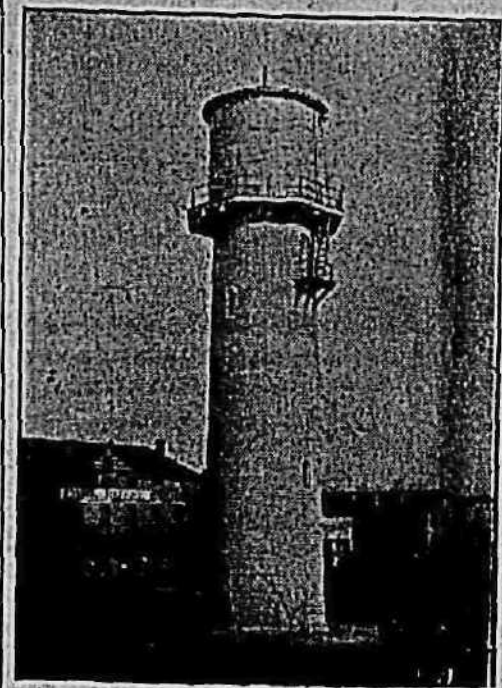

The exigencies which led up to the construction of the system are familiar to all our people. The city passed through a "baptism of fire", as a result of which a majority of 229 votes to 58 against the proposition given in 1888, was reversed in March, 1893, to 318 for to 86 against bonding the city for $20,000 for that purpose.

Preliminary work was at once actively commenced with the result that on May 31 of that year, Fairbanks, Morse & Co., were awarded the contract for the construction of the entire plant. On August 9th, 1893, actual work was begun, a small army of men being employed upon the construction of the tower, power-house, reservoirs and in laying the mains. On Nov. 13th, a thorough test was made of the efficiency of the completed system, water being thrown 110 feet into the air under direct pressure and the plant was turned over to and accepted by the council.

Since that time considerable main has been laid, new hydrants added, an additional pump purchased, until today the system is as has been stated, a model one in every respect, from the huge reservoirs with their 158,000 gallons of ever-changing purest spring water, pouring in at the rate of 110 gallons a minute to the great 100-foot tower in Avenue Park which distributes it to every section of the city.

To follow the course of water from the spring to the consumer, one would first visit the pumping station where two big Fairbanks & Morse duplex pumps are forcing it to the tank, every stroke, slow as it seems, sending up an incredible quantity, each pump having a capacity of 750,000 gallons a day. In the boiler room are two 60 H. P. horizontal boilers and scattered about are the various gauges by which it is to be ascertained the pressure on the pipe lines, height of water in the tower, steam pressure, etc. In fact the pumping plant is a model as to neatness and general convenience, and Superintendent Dinsmore takes no little pride in keeping it so, as well as the little park which surrounds it and the reservoirs in the rear. After reaching the tank the water is distributed about the city through 19,050 feet of four-inch, 2,550 feet of six-inch and 3,200 feet of eight-inch mains; the normal tank pressure being about 70 pounds. This pressure is all sufficient for every occasion, though it is a standing order of the council that in case of fire Supt. Dinsmore is to furnish direct pressure—100 to 120 pounds—and day nor night since taking charge of the system, he has never missed having it ready when the first hydrant was opened—a record of which to be proud. The system of fire hydrants, of which there are 45, covers the city so admirably and completely that there are probably not a half dozen buildings within the corporation outside the limits of protection.

This system supplies water to a present total of 248 consumers and in a financial way alone has been an excellent investment for the city. Last year it yielded a revenue of $2,163.76, the total expenditure being $1900. In this connection it must be considered that in addition to the above $400 was laid out in permanent improvements and also that in most cities a rental of from $50 to $50 per hydrant, which is levied by the council owning the system is being saved to us, the earning value of the plant therefore greatly increased.

The system is in charge of B. G. Dinsmore and all its affairs and interests are looked after by a water commission composed of A. E. Smith, A. H. Kendrick, W. M. Stillman, N. O. Francisco and J. B. Reader—Delavan (Wis.) Republican, Thursday, March 28, 1901.

Spring coughs are especially dangerous and unless cured at once, serious results often follow. One Minute Cough Cure acts like magic. It is not a common mixture, but is a high grade remedy. W. T. Hill

"MR. SPEAKER."

Presiding Officer of British House Has Many Advantages.

There are few public offices so august and so comfortable as that of speaker of the British House of Commons. To begin with the emoluments: The speaker's salary is twenty-five thousand dollars a year; there are miscellaneous allowances which amount to almost as much more, and to these is added a handsome official residence such as a prince might envy. Moreover, while the speaker listens to the speeches of dull members or restrains the language of the impetuous, he is sustained by the reflection that, whenever he is inclined to give up the office, he can retire with a peerage, and the assurance of receiving a check for a thousand pounds every three months for the rest of his days. Such a reflection might well beguile the most tedious debate. The speaker has great power. No member of the house can speak in debate except with his consent. He can stop any member whom he regards as using unparliamentary language, and can suspend him if he chooses. He can close any debate; he decides finally nice points of parliamentary law, for his rulings are never disputed. These powers might be abused by a partisan; but the speaker is never a partisan. One of the considerations which determines his selection is that he shall be satisfactory to both parties. He is nominated by the leader of the government party, and the nomination is seconded by the leader of the opposition. When the office becomes vacant the government chooses for speaker a member of the party in power; but if there is a change of government he is not displaced, even after an election at which his party is defeated. Under the American system, it is not possible that the speaker of the house of representatives should be so colorless a person as the speaker of the house of commons is expected to be. The British ministers have seats in parliament, and are the leaders of the house. In this country the separation of executive and legislative functions deprives the house of official leaders, and the dominant party needs the office of speaker as an aid in impressing its policy upon legislation. Nevertheless, within these recognized limitations, speakers who were robust partisans have shown themselves capable of great fairness toward political opponents.

CONFIDENCE LESSON.

A Suspicious Prior Rebuked by His Pupil.

Mr. G. C. Williamson, in his recent life of Perugino, recalls a pretty story of how the artist, great himself and the master of a yet greater pupil, Raphael, once rebuked a suspicious prior who doubted his honesty. The old masters, in the rich decoration of altar pieces, used gold leaf and the beautiful rich blue called ultramarine. The cost of these materials was so high that a special clause was often inserted in the contract between the artist and the authorities of the building which he was to adorn, to the effect that the artist should provide his own materials, but that the necessary quantities of gold and ultramarine should be supplied to him. In accordance with such a clause, the prior of the ingenuit himself supplied and prepared the ultramarine when Perugino was decorating their cloister. Being both parsimonious and suspicious in disposition, he always remained present while the artist was putting in his blues, mistrustfully eyeing each celestially glowing inch as the canvas grew, and manifestly wondering if it could not have been achieved with less paint. Perugino was displeased, but said nothing. Nor did he use in the picture more blue than was necessary; but by filling his brush very full and innocently dabbling it in water each time before applying it, he managed to make away with several times as much of the valuable color as he needed, without the prior's perceiving anything wrong, although dismayed at the quantity that disappeared. At the end of the day's work Perugino poured away the water in which his brush had been dipped, carefully dried the extra ultramarine which had been precipitated at the bottom of the bowl, and returned it to the prior, with the quiet but stinging reproach: "This belongs to you, father. Learn to trust honest men, for they never deceive those who confide in them, although they well know how to deceive distrustful persons like yourself when they desire to do so."

A Ragging, Roaring Flood

Washed down a telegraph line which Chas. C. Ellis, of Lisbon, Ia., had to repair. "Standing waist deep in icy water," he writes, "gave me a terrible cold and cough. It grew worse daily. Finally the best doctors in Oakland, Neb., Sioux City and Omaha, said I had consumption and could not live. Then I began using Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by six bottles." NORTHERN WISCONSIN DEVELOPMENT

That rapidly developing territory which occupies the northern half of Wisconsin is not new enough to cause the hardships and vicissitudes of frontier life, and old enough to keep away the impending settler on account of exorbitant land prices. It is in that stage of partial development which gives great opportunity to bring it to the highest point of perfection and prosperity. Schools, good roads and other improvements are going in. All that is needed is a small capital. Brawn and brain, supplemented by push and energy, will do the rest. The iron ore, marl, knollin and clay beds the timber and the rich soil, give equal opportunity to the settler and the manufacturer. Land is cheap and can be purchased on easy terms.

CHAPTER XII.

All around the "Crimmon" the big farm sleighs were drawn up, and in them, comfortably wrapped in their robes and furs, the ladies sat, looking on and thrilled by that inexpressible fascination which military evolutions always seem to have upon the civilian. With fashions in the harness when the martial music made them silver and dance, but the old men, whose weight of years forbade their active service on the training ground, and who, involuntarily resenting that fact, were habitually in sarcastic criticisms upon their civilian neighbors in the ranks, they gave them relief to say things like these:

That question twice for the same man, but in a community that almost worshiped bodily prowess—a condition inseparable from frontier life, and one which persists long after the direct causes have passed away—its repetitions became monotonous.

On one occasion, while he was building the Venice court house, as he sat dozing in the public room of the little hotel where he boarded, after a long day of very hard work, a burly West Virginian presented himself and persisted in waking him. "What do you want?" he asked, and said it was ill advised, Uncle Dave had been handling and hauling stone all eron already there, fought nobly, but the odds against the trio were overwhelming. A score of savage Mulveils, all who could get near enough to do so, attacked them at once; while as many more, close

American-made shoes are rapidly driving the English-made article out of the market in the British colonies. American goods of all kinds are made with more style, wear just as well or better, and, owing to the skill and speed of American workmen, are sold cheaper than those of any other country. That is why we are getting ahead of all the markets in which our goods are intelligently pushed and that is why we exceed the world in prosperity.

A blind man helping to educate his more fortunate brethren is certainly true philanthropy. Mr. Ralph N. Voorhees, an uncle of Gov. Voorhees, who is blind, has given Carroll College, Waukegan, Wis., $25,000, in addition to $50,000 given some time ago.

Mr. Bryan having published his opinion of Mr. Cleveland, it is now up to Mr. Cleveland to say what he thinks of Mr. Bryan, and Mr. Bryan could sell a lot of papers by getting him to do so in the columns of The Commoner.

The American Bridge Company has just secured, in competition with the world, the largest railway bridge contract ever placed in this country. It is from a railroad in Ecuador and involves an expenditure of $2,000,000.

Charleston, S. C. is in a turmoil because a woman prominent in social and religious circles, and an ex-president of the State W. C. T. U. has been arrested charged with obtaining money under false pretences.

Gamblers may escape for a time, but sooner or later they come to grief. This fact is commended to the consideration of those who are manipulating the skin game of disfranchising voters in the south.

"I have very little regard for a man who makes politics his business. But every man should make it his duty to take just as much interest in politics as he takes in his business." - Gov. Odell, of N. Y.

Notwithstanding bad advice from interested parties, and fool-stories of the yellow press, the Cubans are slowly but surely coming around to a common sense view of our conditions for withdrawal.

A man who has to live in a steel-lined bullet-proof room to live at all, as the Czar of Russia now has to do, would seem to have trouble enough at home without seeking any outside scrap.

Mr. Bryan seems to be terribly afraid that some of the fusionist members of the Nebraska legislature will sell out, but it may be knowledge of the men that inspires his fears.

Philippine news has been decidedly pleasing of late. Many small bands of insurgents have surrounded, and the cities and provinces are being rapidly put under civil government.

Booker Washington has been pulling the legs of wealthy New Yorkers for a few thousands for his Tuskegee Institute, and every dollar of the money will aid in a good work.

What has become of Pettigrew and his war-working jaw? Can't he find any newspaper that will print his traitorous utterances, now that he is no longer a Senator?

New York churches are getting so prosperous that they have canceled mortgages to burn. St. Andrews M. E. Church held a special service to burn one for $100,000.

Little Japan has a fine fleet of the best warships afloat, and she has taken effective steps to call it to Russia's attention by sending it to Korea.

There are portions in Kentucky where "teaching the young idea how to shoot" means the proper handling of a gun.

Mr. Bryan imagines that his control of the democratic party extends to even a municipal campaign in St. Louis.

Dave Hill can be counted upon to stand by the Bryan-Cleveland scrap and shout: "Sic him Billy! sic him Grove!"

Murderous nihilism must be the principal study in Russian college, judging by the acts of Russian students.

Ex-Senator Gorman isn't the first man who has resorted to burglarious methods to get back to the Senate.

Senator Platt and Gov. Odell disappointed a great many democrats by refusing to quarrel.

HORTICULTURE EXHIBIT.

Will Be One of the Principal Features of the Exposition.

Horticulture, viticulture and floriculture are linked together in one great class. In the midst of a country of orchards and vineyards the Pan-American Exposition will have abundant material close at hand and of the finest quality from which to make an exhibit worthy of the great event. The extensive floral decorations of the grounds constitute a rich display in floriculture, and several acres, including hundreds of beds, are devoted to the exhibits made by leading florists of the country. Flowers in profusion will welcome the earliest visitors and breathe out their fragrance and display their incomparable beauty the season through. Thousands of trees and shrubs flourish throughout the grounds. Double rows of thrifty trees surround the principal buildings. Foliage and flowers there will be in great profusion. In the horticultural embellishment of the grounds the Pan-American will far surpass the efforts of all former expositions.

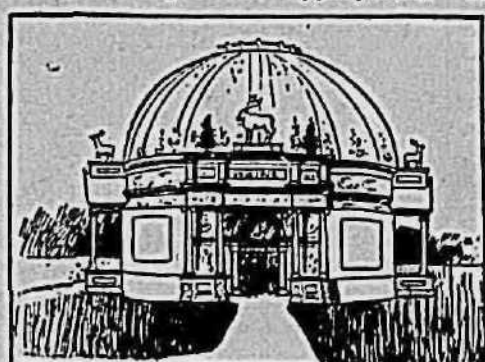

In the handsome and commodious Horticultural Building all the popular fruits of the different countries represented in the Pan-American Exposition will be displayed. With a suitable refrigerating room upon the grounds, it will be possible for the management to make a daily fresh display of fruit. Throughout the term of the Exposition, when certain fruits are at their best, special displays will be made of certain varieties. The exhibit from southern California will be particularly large, and New York and other states will be represented befittingly. Bottled productions will also have a place here, the wine growers of the Chautauqua, central New York and Hudson river regions having applied for space for extensive exhibits. The opportunity for a timely display of choice native fruits will be improved. Dried and preserved fruits will be exhibited here. Articles and appliances used in horticulture will also be shown in this division.

The exhibits of nursery stock, including orchard and ornamental trees, shrubs and evergreens, will be unquestionably among the finest, if not the finest, ever made. The most prominent nurserymen in the country have interested themselves and will aim to outdo any former show of the kind. No less interest is taken by the leading florists, who are arranging exceptionally fine displays. Many large beds of flowers were planted some months ago, and they will aid in beautifying the scene from the early days of the Exposition.

MARK BENNETT.

The Maine Building.

The resources of the State of Maine will be exhibited at the Pan-American Exposition next summer in a building at once unique and appropriate. It will be circular in form, with projecting entrances, and the decorations will be typical of things in the Pine Tree State. The building will challenge the attention and win the admiration of every visitor to the Exposition.

ELECTRIC SCIENCE.

Feature of Great Importance at the Pan-American.

Electricity and electrical appliances are to receive such attention as to make this one feature of the Pan-American Exposition of the greatest importance in the history of electrical development. In addition to the spectacular uses of electricity in illuminating buildings, towers, courts and fountains there will be very important demonstrations of the application of the force to many new purposes. Among them will be wireless telegraphy, the X rays, the electromobile, telegraphy to and from moving trains by induction, the improvements in the electric light and telephone. The wonderful labor saving qualities of electricity have revolutionized the production of many articles of merchandise within the past decade. This phase of employment of the electric fluid will form a most pleasant study for those who are interested in the newest of the sciences, and such a study as will only be possible at the Exposition. The development of electric power will be illustrated in a comprehensive manner.

RAINBOW CITY.

Pan-American Exposition Aglow With Beautiful Colors.

Perhaps nothing has been more talked about than the color scheme of the Pan-American. It was a daring thing to attempt to array in colors the extensive buildings of the Exposition, for scarcely any precedent existed for such an undertaking, and to attempt it and fail would be disastrous indeed. It was out of the question to duplicate the White City at Chicago. Something absolutely new must be devised for the Pan-American at Buffalo. Happily the Spanish renaissance architecture furnished the hint for the solution of this problem, and now that it has been solved and the color scheme is seen to be so well adapted to the purposes of exposition architecture it is realized that a new discovery has been made. With the buildings arrayed in colors which will harmonize with the general scheme of the Exposition and please rather than offend artistic taste, the Rainbow City cannot fail to become popular in a degree scarcely hoped for by those who planned its construction. The Director of Color, Mr. Charles V. Turner, N. A., of New York City, studied the requirements of the situation and in his studio in New York by means of models carefully worked out the designs and drawings for the mural decoration. The experts experimented with paint and obtained an article that may be used without fear that it will lose its staying qualities before the Exposition is over. The test already made shows that the paint after being once applied to the staff is going to hold its color well.

RARE COMBINATION.

The Floral and Electrical Display at the Pan-American Exposition.

There is a saying that "Flowers are the poetry of earth, as stars are the poetry of heaven." If this be true, the beauty of the floral effects to be seen at the Pan-American Exposition will be pronounced as a rare combination of both, for never yet at an exposition have such magnificent effects been seen as will be visible in some of the fountain basins at the Pan-American. There beautiful plants and flowers, kissed to a state of dewy dazzlement by the falling spray and the glow of concealed incandescent lamps, will delight the visitor.

At the exposition in Omaha some little success was obtained in thus lighting up the flowers and the foliage of plants in the water basins, and this has led Henry E. Rustin, chief of the mechanical and electrical bureau, to attempt to enlarge upon what he accomplished in Omaha. When thus lighted, the flowers and plants take upon themselves new colors, each one seemingly more beautiful than the color displayed under full sunlight. Then the little mystery of where the illumination comes from is delightful, and, knowing this, the skilled electrician is most careful to conceal his lamps where least likely to attract the eye. Perhaps an artificial leaf, an artificial flower, is used to hide the lamp, but its full brilliancy is allowed to beam upon the plant and flowers, making a picture that is lasting. It is when such effects are obtained that the full appreciation of enjoyment is expressed in the single word "beautiful." It was so at Omaha, and it will be more so at the Pan-American.

Automobiles at Exposition.

The automobile has been developed since the Columbian Exposition at Chicago. What marvels may be exhibited and in practical daily use at the Pan-American Exposition can only be dimly conjectured. The railway, vessel and vehicle exhibits at Buffalo this year will outrival in interest anything that has been possible in the past.

In 1881 the largest arc light machine made supplied current for 10 lights, and when Mr. Brush made a 60 light machine it was a giant. In the electrical exhibits of the Pan-American Exposition the largest type of Brush arc light machine will be shown, and this will afford interesting comparison with the machines of 20 years ago.

The Ohio Building.

The Ohio State building has a prominent place at the Pan-American Exposition to be held in Buffalo next summer. The design is plain Grecian

OHIO STATE BUILDING.

Doric, the beauty of which lies mainly in its classic proportions and commanding position. It is designed exclusively for social purposes and will be the rendezvous of Ohio visitors to the Exposition.

Mexican Appointment.

The Mexican ministry of fomento (encouragement) has appointed as Mexican representative of the Pan-American Exposition Engineer Albino R. Nuncio, who was until his appointment chief of the second section in the agricultural ministry.

BANDS FOR PAN-AMERICAN.

Their Music Will Be a Great Feature of the Exposition at Buffalo.

Arrangements have already been made for the appearance at the Pan-American Exposition of some of the most famous bands of the American Continent. Throughout the season, from May 1 to Nov. 1, concerts will be given daily in various parts of the Exposition grounds by these bands, and the variety of musical entertainment thus afforded will be a notable feature of the Exposition. Prominent among the organizations engaged is Sousa's Band, which is known wherever there are lovers of music and whose success in the rendition of military music has been remarkable.

The most notable achievement in the history of international events was perhaps the triumphal tour made by Sousa and his band through Europe, extending from April to September, 1900. It was 22 years since an American band had been heard on the European Continent, and so emphatic was the success of the American conductor and composer that the tour became a series of ovations throughout France, Germany, Belgium and Holland. It was the official band at the Paris Exposition.

The Mexican Government Mounted Band has been engaged to give concerts during the Exposition. Funclivill's Seventy-first Regiment Band of New York has been engaged for a series of concerts during the season. This band has also a great reputation for its rendition of military music, and it followed Sousa's Band in the concerts at Manhattan Beach.

Canada will be represented by several bands, among them the famous Thirtieth Regiment Band of Hamilton, which is the crack band music organization of lower Canada.

The Elgin Band of Elgin, Ill., which stands very high in that state, has also been engaged.

Another well known band is the Carlisle Indian Band, which made a great hit in Washington and New York City.

When the Ancient and Honorable Artillery of Boston made their recent notable tour in Europe, they were accompanied by the Salem (Mass.) Cadet Band, which contributed much to the success of the tour. This band will also be heard at the Pan-American Exposition.

The Brooks Chicago Marine Band, E. B. Brooks conductor, which is considered by many the best in Chicago, will be heard.

Another band engaged is the Ithaca Band of Ithaca, N. Y., which is backed by E. N. Truman, one of the wealthy men of that section. It has achieved a great reputation in the central part of New York State.

The Boston Ladies' Military Band, which has been before the public for two or three years and made a pronounced success, has been engaged. It is spoken of highly by musical people in Boston.

Besides these bands from other portions of the United States, the best bands of Buffalo have been engaged for the Exposition, including the well known Seventy-fourth Regiment Band and the Sixty-fifth Regiment Band, which saw service at Camp Alger during the Spanish-American war.

Another band of Buffalo is Scinta's Band, a strong organization. These local bands have been strengthened to the number of 33 men each, and the leaders claim to have put them in a very fine condition, so that Buffalo need not be ashamed of the performances they will give during the progress of the great Exposition.

This is not a complete list of the bands which will be heard at the Pan-American, but simply shows the character of the entertainment to be provided.

Minerals at the Pan-American.

Minerals will be fully represented, comprising every production, both useful and ornamental, mined from the earth. All parts of the United States and every country of South and Central America, Canada, Mexico and the islands of the sea will contribute specimens for the exhibit. All kinds of machinery used in manipulating ores will be exhibited. The great advantages that the Americas have over the rest of the world in the wealth of their minerals in connection with climatic conditions, accessibility, etc., will be clearly illustrated. While the exhibits will be under the auspices of the various Governments, many individuals and mining companies will be represented by special interests.

LITERARY NOTES.

The outlook is accustoming, in its illustrated Monthly Magazine Number, to publish single-page features consisting each of an excellent portrait of a man prominently before the public, with a brief sketch of his life and achievements accompanying it. In the April Magazine Number the four men thus honored are Mr. Andrew Carnegie, Mr. W. W. Rockhill, now our only official representative in China, Professor Pupin, whose electrical inventions have lately been sold for half a million dollars, and Mr. E. A. Philbin, the new and reform District-Attorney for New York City. ($3 a year. The Outlook Company, 287 Fourth Avenue, New York.)

The March issue of McClure's Magazine is one of notable value, a value at once timely and permanent. The leading feature is a character study of Edward VII., written by the man in America most competent for the task, George W. Smalley, the correspondent of the London Times. Accompanying the article are pictures which form a series of portraits of the new sovereign from earliest youth to the present. Following this appreciation of the King, there is a collection of pictures of Queen Victoria. These are thirty in number, reproductions of photographs and paintings, and they are a complete souvenir of the monarch. A descriptive text accompanies them.

Weather Man Unskilful.

Tim Murphy, the popular comedian, saw an old colored woman sitting under an awning fanning herself when he was in Washington, D. C., last summer. "It's dreadfully hot, isn't it, mammy?" asked Mr. Murphy. "Deed it is, chile," said the old woman. "deed it is. 'Taint right for it to be so hot this-a-way. I tell you, forty years ago, when the blessed Lawd made the weather, we didn't have these stewing days, honey, no, deed, we didn't; but now these biggety men up at this here weather office has the making of the weather, they does send us anything they please, and they ain't skilful, they ain't skilful."

BRISTOL, WIS.

Miss Alice Lane spent the past week with her father at Kenosha.

Arthur Gaines spent the latter part of last week in Kenosha.

Or Kenosha high school scholars are enjoying a weeks vacation.

Miss Belle Wells, of Kenosha, is the guest of Miss Lulu Rowbottom.

Willard Gaines was a Chicago visitor at the Kenosha high school last Friday.

George Nixon arrived in our village on Monday of this week to visit friends.

Miss Blanche Gray spent a few days of the past week with friends in Kenosha.

Clayton Stevens is spending the week with his sister, Miss Ada Stevens, at Elgin.

Frank Rowbottom spent the greater part of the past week with friends in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bothley are moving into the Burdick house in our village.

Master Roy Jackson was a visitor at the Kenosha high school Tuesday of last week.

Frank Braise, of Kenosha, was the guest of Mrs. C. B. Gaines and Mrs. D. Matthews the first of the week.

Miss Ruby Fox spent a few days of last week with her father and brother, John and Carl Fox, of Kenosha.

C. J. Lavey has been appointed to the position of head carpenter at the powder works at Pleasant Prairie.

Misses Jean Murdock and Ina Jackson were guests of Miss Myra Whitecher, of Kenosha, the first part of the week.

Sam Knapp has bought the old Serge Hall home about two miles northeast of our village. Mr. Knapp and family moved to their new home last Friday.

Mrs. Charlie Matthews and son Master Herbert Matthews, of Kenosha, were guests of Mrs. D. Matthews and Mrs. C. B. Gaines a couple of days of the past week.

Mrs. Addie Jackson spent Monday in Chicago, buying her stock of new spring millinery goods. Be sure to call on her before buying your new hats. Prices and goods always all right.

Rich Jones and Miss Maud Riggs, of Salem, were married at Racine on Wednesday of last week. Mr. and Mrs. Jones have congratulations and best wishes of a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

You cannot enjoy perfect health, rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes if your liver is sluggish and your bowels clogged. De Witt's Little Early Risers cleanse the whole system. They never gripe. W. T. Hill.

ROSECRANS, ILL.

Roads improving.

Mrs. Mary Kelly is seriously ill. She is one of the oldest residents of the county.

H. T. Meyers, near Wadsworth, is not expected to live more than a few days. Sad to think of good old people passing away.

M. J. Shea, of Wadsworth, has rented the McDevick farm, near Hickory. It is rumored that he will lead a fair young lady to the altar next week, at St. Patrick's church, at this place.

MILLBURN, ILL.

The Physical Culture Society comes high, but we must have it.

Mrs. J. M. Strang entertained a large company of friends Thursday evening.

C. B. Cummings, Geo. Gerrity and Mr. Harris were Chicago visitors last week.

Miss Jessie Strang who has been absent several months is expected home this week.

The church furniture is expected to arrive next week on special train from Grand Rapids.

Quite a number of our young people will attend the Easter cotillon at Antioch Monday evening.

William Choche will manage the mail route while W. G. Thom, the contractor, takes his usual spring vacation.

William McCann, who has been absent for the past year, has returned, and is the guest of Mrs. John Cunningham.

Mrs. Norman Adams and children, of Chicago, arrived Sunday evening and are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pantall.

"I had piles so bad I could get no rest nor find a cure until I tried De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve. After using it once I forgot I ever had anything like Piles." E. C. Boice, Somers Point, N. Y. Look out for imitations. Be sure you ask for De Witt's. Sold by W. T. Hill.

The opponent's Elastic Yard-Stick.

Opponent of equal suffrage have made a wonderful invention—an elastic yardstick. By a judicious use of it, they propose to prevent women from voting. Whenever any woman does an unwise thing, they charge it against the whole body of women and gravely affirm that all women are unfit to vote. A few days ago some of the Daughters of the American Revolution, in a contested election, lost their temper and got into a verbal scuffle, which was telegraphed from Maine, to Mexico, as an evidence of woman's unfitness for self-government. The Boston Daily Herald, with owl-like gravity, in a leading editorial, contended that:

"The Washington action does not render it probable that women with full suffrage rights would be a success in public affairs, since if women are to have the suffrage all women must be admitted to it. The misbehaving Washington women must come in as well as the more properly conducting woman suffragists."

Yet, the same day, the Herald recorded the fact that a number of Irish members of Parliament refused to obey the authority of the Speaker, and had to be forcibly removed by a squad of policemen. Whereupon the Herald remarks that:

"The rumour may be taken as proof that the Irish factions are even more thoroughly united than was supposed, and are starting out to follow the tactics laid down by their great Parliamentary leader, Parnell."

Here is the elastic yardstick applied respectively to the Irish and the woman. The Herald does not propose to disfranchise all Irishmen. That very day the Herald chronicled an assault committed by Senator J. H. Geiger, of Montana, upon A. B. Keith:

"Last night the men met in the lobby of the Senate chamber at the close of the extra session. Geiger rushed at Keith, who struck him a heavy blow on the forehead with a loaded cane. The Senator was stunned. Before he recovered Keith had walked away. Senator Geiger is now searching for Keith with a revolver, having threatened to kill him on sight. A shooting affair is regarded when they meet."

But the editor does not suggest the disfranchisement of all the men in Montana; not even of the Montana Senator. Again the elastic yardstick. Five days before, "a fierce fistful fight" was chronicled between the German and Czech deputies in the Austrian Reichsrath. But nobody suggests that all Germans and Czechs should be forever disfranchised.

Mrs. Nation enforces Kansas law by smashing illegal saloons. She is cited as an awful example of "women in politics." But no one has proposed to disfranchise the legal liquor dealers, or the county officials who refuse to enforce the laws of Kansas.

Germany's High Class Teaching.

At the recent meeting of the Connecticut Valley grammar school masters held in Springfield, Mass. Dr. Bailett delivered an interesting address on the schools of Germany. The high school teacher in Germany is a scholar, a writer of books and often a teacher in one of the universities. The average teaching in Germany is better than it is in this country, and much of the teaching here would not be tolerated in Germany.

School Notes.

Lena Drury was absent from school Monday and Tuesday.

Lights are now seen in the school house every evening as the Seniors are practicing for their play which will be held in the Antioch opera house, April 18. "Look out for something good."

Mary Blair and Gertie Smart are absent from school this week.

Eva King visited High School one day last week.

Florence Fenderson is again at school, as the water at Channel Bridge has gone down.

A Testimonial from Old England.

"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the best in the world for bronchitis," says Mr. William Savory, of Warrington, England. "It has saved my wife's life, she having been a martyr to bronchitis for over six years, being most of the time confined to her bed. She is now quite well." It is a great pleasure to the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be able to publish testimonials of this character.

They show that great good is being done, pain and suffering relieved and valuable lives restored to health and happiness by this remedy. For sale by W. H. Emmons, Antioch; Thomson's Pharmacy, Grayslake.

Northern Wisconsin Railroad Lands

are increasing in value from year to year. Railroads are the great civilizers, for they give the settler as well as the manufacturer equal opportunity to work in undeveloped fields, thereby rapidly settling the country and bringing forth its undiscovered riches.

Northern Wisconsin is rich in iron ore, clay, kolin, marl, timber and fine farm lands. It has made many a settler independent and added to the wealth of manufacturers who have sought this territory. Opportunities have not passed, as there is still a generous supply of land which can be obtained at low figures and on easy terms.

Don't Be Funny.

It does not pay. If you have a good thing, tell it right out. Don't use false means to attract attention. We say "right out," and mean it, too, that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will cure every case of stomach trouble. It will stop any pain caused by indigestion; it knocks Sick Headache by attacking the cause of the complaint and aids you to digest your food, no matter what you eat.

CHINESE ANTIPATHY.

Traveler fails to form attachment to the Mongolians.

E. M. Younghusband in the National Review: In traveling through a strange country for one's own pleasure one naturally tries to think the best of the people; and most of the people (except the Masbunas and Matabele) among whom I have traveled I have formed some attachment to. But between me and the Chinamen there always seemed a great gulf fixed which could never be overcome. The Chinese gentlemen I met during my three months' stay in the Pekin legation and the year I spent in Chinese Turkestan were always very polite, and often cheery and genial; but even then I could always detect a vein of condescension and superciliousness. They were polite because they are bred to rigid politeness, but I never felt drawn toward a Chinese gentleman as any one would be toward a Rajput, a Sikh, or an Afghan gentleman. I had with me on my journey from Pekin to India one companion only—a Chinese servant. He did his work excellently, and we never fell out. But, though we rode together for thousands of miles and shared many dangers in common, we were never really attached to each other; and I am absolutely certain that if I ever see him again he will never dream of jumping up and down and kissing my hands and feet in dog-like devotion, like my Chitral servant did when I returned to Chitral at the close of the siege. As for the Chinese with whom I was brought in merely casual contact in passing through towns and villages, the only thing to be said is that they make no attempt whatever to disguise their aversion. No country is so unpleasant to travel in as China. It was a common experience to have mud and stones thrown at one in passing through a town, and to be greeted with scoffs and sneers by an excited mob. I gather, therefore, from this that the real, the instinctive attitude of the Chinese, as a whole, toward foreigners is one of intense antipathy; and if we consider the rigid conservatism of the people we may be certain that that antipathy will last for many a century yet. And very natural this antipathy is, many will say, and small wonder that they seek to keep the pushing foreigner at a distance. "China for the Chinese" is a thoroughly comprehensible sentiment; and what right have we Europeans to force ourselves in where we are not wanted?

FOR FIRE ENGINES.

New Device Which Adds to the Efficiency of the Machine.

Fire engine No. 39, on its way to a fire, whirling and rocking behind three big plunging bay horses, looks like an irresistible force to which one might well give a wide berth, says the New York Mail and Express. But it is not so dangerous as it appears, for by a recent invention applied first to that engine for a test the driver from his seat in the box can bring the great machine to a full stop within the space of its own length. For a long time the fire department has felt the need of making the brake so long in use more efficient, and from suggestions made by Chief Croker, who is ever looking for new devices with which to equip his splendid department, Engineers Corson and Schurnbersky of engine No. 39 invented a brake attachment which meets the long-felt want. The invention consists simply of a cog wheel and "dog," acting as a lock upon the brake and easily worked from the driver's seat. The test made in front of fire headquarters in the presence of Chief Croker and other officials proved that the invention is a splendid success, and every engine and truck in the city will soon be equipped with it. The benefits arising from the new brake are at once apparent. It has been too great a task for a driver to handle three giant horses and at the same time hold the brake against the wheel when dashing down some heavy grade or trying to slow up before striking down some vehicle or careless pedestrian. Accidents without number which have happened are now made impossible, so effectively does the new dog and cog wheel hold the brake when once set. And now, instead of a long, steady strain, the driver has only to put the brake on notch by notch and "the little dog" does the rest. Often in dashing to a fire some part of the harness breaks and the horses, terrified by flying strap or crowding engine, take the bits in their teeth and usually tear things up before they are again brought under control. With the new brake they can be speedily brought to a standstill. With the new device it matters not with what speed the engine comes nor how steep the grade may be.

Western Rates Reduced.

Greatly reduced one-way rates will be in effect via Wisconsin Central Railway to points in Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and British Columbia each Tuesday commencing February 12, and continuing until April 30th.

"I have been troubled with indigestion for ten years; have tried many things and spent much money to no purpose until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken two bottles and gotten more relief from them than all other medicines taken. I feel more like a boy than I have felt in twenty years." Anderson Riggs, of Sunny Lane, Tex. American-made shoes are rapidly driving the English-made article out of the market in the British colonies. American goods of all kinds are made with more style, wear just as well or better, and, owing to the skill and speed of American workmen, are sold cheaper than those of any other country. That is why we are getting ahead of all the markets in which our goods are intelligently pushed and that is why we exceed the world in prosperity.

A blind man helping to educate his more fortunate brethren is certainly true philanthropy. Mr. Ralph N. Voorhees, an uncle of Gov. Voorhees, who is blind, has given Carroll College, Waukegan, Wis., $25,000, in addition to $50,000 given some time ago.

Mr. Bryan having published his opinion of Mr. Cleveland, it is now up to Mr. Cleveland to say what he thinks of Mr. Bryan, and Mr. Bryan could sell a lot of papers by getting him to do so in the columns of The Commoner.

The American Bridge Company has just secured, in competition with the world, the largest railway bridge contract ever placed in this country. It is from a railroad in Ecuador and involves an expenditure of $2,000,000.

Charleston, S. C. is in a turmoil because a woman prominent in social and religious circles, and an ex-president of the State W. O. T. U. has been arrested charged with obtaining money under false pretences.

Gambler may escape for a time, but sooner or later they come to grief. This fact is commended to the consideration of those who are manipulating the skin game of disfranchising voters in the south.

"I have very little regard for a man who makes politics his business. But every man should make it his duty to take just as much interest in politics as he takes in his business." Gov. Odell, of N. Y.

Notwithstanding bad advice from interested parties, and fool-stories of the yellow press, the Cubans are slowly but surely coming around to a common sense view of our conditions for withdrawal.

A man who has to live in a steel-lined bullet-proof room to live at all, as the Czar of Russia now has to do, would seem to have trouble enough at home without seeking any outside scraps.

Mr. Bryan seems to be terribly afraid that some of the fusionist members of the Nebraska legislature will sell out, but it may be knowledge of the men that inspires his fears.

Philippine news has been decidedly pleasing of late. Many small bands of insurgents have surrounded, and the cities and provinces are being rapidly put under civil government.

Booker Washington has been pulling the legs of wealthy New Yorkers for a few thousands for his Tuskegee Institute, and every dollar of the money will aid in a good work.

What has become of Pettigrew and his war-working jaw? Can't he find any newspaper that will print his traitorous utterances, now that he is no longer a Senator?

New York churches are getting so prosperous that they have canceled mortgages to burn. St. Andrews M. E. Church held a special service to burn one for $100,000.

If Canadians succeed in their efforts to get a government bounty of $15,000 put on wolves, some of them may be able to keep the wolf from the door by killing it.

Little Japan has a fine fleet of the best warships afloat, and she has taken effective steps to call it to Russia's attention by sending it to Corea.

There are portions in Kentucky where "teaching the young idea, how to shoot" means the proper handling of a gun.

Mr. Bryan imagines that his control of the democratic party extends to even a municipal campaign in St. Louis.

Dave Hill can be counted upon to stand by the Bryan-Cleveland scrap and shout: "Sic him Billy! sic him Grove!"

Murderous nihilism must be the principal study in Russian college, judging by the acts of Russian students.

Senator Platt and Gov. Odell disappointed a great many democrats by refusing to quarrel.

THE PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION AT BUFFALO
By WILLIAM L. SUTHERLAND, Director-General
By COURTESY OF COLLIER'S WEEKLY.

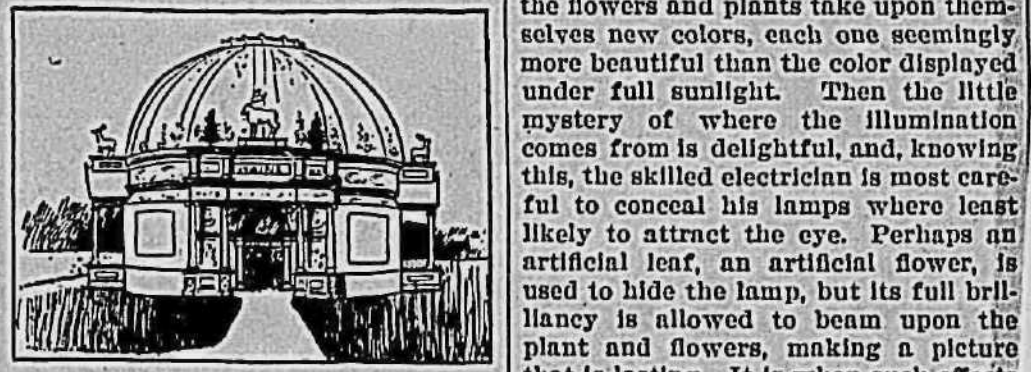

HORTICULTURE EXHIBIT.
Will Be One of the Principal Features of the Exposition.

Horticulture, viticulture and floriculture are linked together in one great class. In the midst of a country of orchards and vineyards the Pan-American Exposition will have abundant material close at hand and of the finest quality from which to make an exhibit worthy of the great event. The extensive floral decorations of the grounds constitute a rich display in floriculture, and several acres, including hundreds of beds, are devoted to the exhibit made by leading florists of the country. In the handsome and commodious Horticultural Building all the popular fruits of the different countries represented in the Pan-American Exposition will be displayed. With a suitable refrigerating room upon the grounds, it will be possible for the management to make a daily fresh display of fruit. Throughout the term of the Exposition, when certain fruits are at their best, special displays will be made of certain varieties. The exhibits of nursery stock, including orchard and ornamental trees, shrubs and evergreens, will be unquestionably among the finest, if not the finest, ever made. ELECTRIC SCIENCE.
Feature of Great Importance at the Pan-American.

Electricity and electrical appliances are to receive such attention as to make this one feature of the Pan-American Exposition of the greatest importance in the history of electrical development. In addition to the spectacular uses of electricity in illuminating buildings, towers, courts and fountains there will be very important demonstrations of the application of the force to many new purposes. Among them will be wireless telegraphy, the X rays, the electromobile, telegraphy to and from moving trains by induction, the improvements in the electric light and telephone. The wonderful labor saving qualities of electricity have revolutionized the production of many articles of merchandise within the past decade. This phase of employment of the electric fluid will form a most pleasant study for those who are interested in the newest of the sciences, and such a study as will only be possible at the Exposition. The development of electric power will be illustrated in a comprehensive manner.

RAINBOW CITY.
Pan-American Exposition Afloat With Beautiful Colors.

Perhaps nothing has been more talked about than the color scheme of the Pan-American. It was a daring thing to attempt to array in colors the extensive buildings of the Exposition, for scarcely any precedent existed for such an undertaking, and to attempt it and fail would be disastrous indeed. It was out of the question to duplicate the White City at Chicago. Something absolutely new must be devised for the Pan-American at Buffalo. Happily the Spanish renaissance architecture furnished the hint for the solution of this that a new discovery has been made. With the buildings arrayed in colors which will harmonize with the general scheme of the Exposition and please rather than offend artistic taste, the Rainbow City cannot fail to become popular in a degree scarcely hoped for by those who planned its construction. The Director of Color, Mr. Charles Y. Turner, N. A. of New York City, studied the requirements of the situation and in his studio in New York by means of models carefully worked out the designs and drawings for the mural decoration. The experts experimented with paint and obtained an article that may be used without fear that it will lose its staying qualities before the Exposition is over. The test already made shows that the paint after being once applied to the staff is going to hold its color well.

RARE COMBINATION.
The Floral and Electrical Display at the Pan-American Exposition.

There is a saying that "Flowers are the poetry of earth, as stars are the poetry of heaven." If this be true, the beauty of the floral effects to be seen at the Pan-American Exposition will be pronounced as a rare combination of both, for never yet at an exposition have such magnificent effects been seen as will be visible in some of the fountain basins at the Pan-American. There beautiful plants and flowers, kissed to a state of dewy dazzlement by the falling spray and the glow of concealed incandescent lamps, will delight the visitor.

At the exposition in Omaha some little success was obtained in thus lighting up the flowers and the foliage of plants in the water basins, and this has led Henry E. Rustin, chief of the mechanical and electrical bureau, to attempt to enlarge upon what he accomplished in Omaha. When thus lighted, the flowers and plants take upon themselves new colors, such one seemingly more beautiful than the color displayed under full sunlight. Then the little mystery of where the illumination comes from is delightful, and, knowing this, the skilled electrician is most careful to conceal his lamps where least likely to attract the eye. Perhaps an artificial leaf, an artificial flower, is used to hide the lamp, but its full brilliancy is allowed to beam upon the plant and flowers, making a picture that is lasting. It is when such effects are obtained that the full appreciation of enjoyment is expressed in the single word "beautiful." It was so at Omaha, and it will be more so at the Pan-American.

Automobiles at Exposition.
The automobile has been developed since the Columbian Exposition at Chicago. What marvels may be exhibited and in practical daily use at the Pan-American Exposition can only be dimly conjectured. The railway, vessel and vehicle exhibits at Buffalo this year will outrival in interest anything that has been possible in the past.

In 1881 the largest are light machine made supplied current for 10 light and when Mr. Brush made a 50 light machine it was a giant. In the electrical exhibits of the Pan-American Exposition the largest type of Brush light machine will be shown, and it will afford interesting comparison with the machines of 20 years ago.

The Ohio State building has a prominent place at the Pan-American Exposition to be held in Buffalo next summer. The design is plain Grecian

BANDS FOR PAN-AMERICAN.
Their Music Will Be a Great Feature of the Exposition at Buffalo.

Arrangements have already been made for the appearance at the Pan-American Exposition of some of the most famous bands of the American Continent. Throughout the season, from May 1 to Nov. 1, concerts will be given daily in various parts of the Exposition grounds by these bands, and the variety of musical entertainment thus afforded will be a notable feature of the Exposition. Prominent among the organizations engaged is Sousa's Band, which is known wherever there are lovers of music and whose success in the rendition of military music has been remarkable.

The most notable achievement in the history of international events was perhaps the triumphal tour made by Sousa and his band through Europe, extending from April to September, 1900. It was 22 years since an American band had been heard on the European Continent, and so emphatic was the success of the American conductor and composer that the tour became a series of ovations throughout France, Germany, Belgium and Holland. It was the official band at the Paris Exposition.

The Mexican Government Mounted Band has been engaged to give concerts during the Exposition.

Pancho's Seventy-first Regiment Band of New York has been engaged for a series of concerts during the season. This band has also a great reputation for its rendition of military music.

American-made shoes are rapidly driving the English-made article out of the market in the British colonies. American goods of all kinds are made with more style, wear just as well or better, and, owing to the skill and speed of American workmen, are sold cheaper than those of any other country. That is why we are getting ahead of all the markets in which our goods are intelligently pushed and that is why we exceed the world in prosperity.

A blind man helping to educate his more fortunate brethren is certainly true philanthropy. Mr. Ralph N. Voorhees, an uncle of Gov. Voorhees, who is blind, has given Carroll College, Waukegan, Wis., $25,000, in addition to $50,000 given some time ago.

Mr. Bryan having published his opinion of Mr. Cleveland, it is now up to Mr. Cleveland to say what he thinks of Mr. Bryan, and Mr. Bryan could sell a lot of papers by getting him to do so in the columns of The Commoner.

The American Bridge Company has just secured, in competition with the world, the largest railway bridge contract ever placed in this country. It is from a railroad in Ecuador and involves an expenditure of $2,000,000.

Charleston, S. C. is in a turmoil because a woman prominent in social and religious circles, and an ex-president of the State W. C. T. U. has been arrested charged with obtaining money under false pretences.

Gamblers may escape for a time, but sooner or later they come to grief. This fact is commended to the consideration of those who are manipulating the skin game of disfranchising voters in the south.

Notwithstanding bad advice from interested parties, and fool-stories of the yellow press, the Cubans are slowly but surely coming around to a common sense view of our conditions for withdrawal.

A man who has to live in a steel-lined bullet-proof room to live at all, as the Czar of Russia now has to do, would seem to have trouble enough at home without seeking any outside scraps.

Mr. Bryan seems to be terribly afraid that some of the fusionist members of the Nebraska legislature will sell out, but it may be knowledge of the men that inspires his fears.

Philippine news has been decidedly pleasing of late. Many small bands of insurgents have surrounded, and the cities and provinces are being rapidly put under civil government.

Booker Washington has been pulling the legs of wealthy New Yorkers for a few thousands for his Tuskegee Institute, and every dollar of the money will aid in a good work.

What has become of Pettigrew and his war-working jaw? Can't he find any newspaper that will print his traitorous utterances, now that he is no longer a Senator?

New York churches are getting so prosperous that they have canceled mortgages to burn. St. Andrews M. E. Church held a special service to burn one for $100,000.

Little Japan has a fine fleet of the best warships afloat, and she has taken effective steps to call it to Russia's attention by sending it to Corea.

There are portions in Kentucky where "teaching the young idea how to shoot" means the proper handling of a gun.

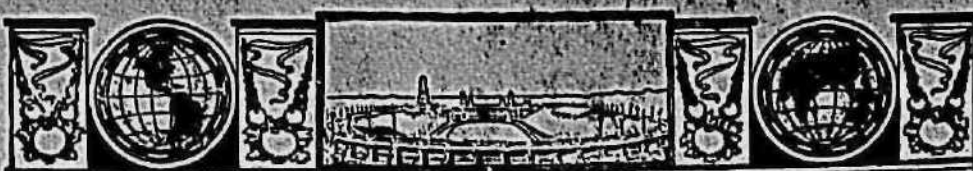

Mr. Bryan imagines that his control of the democratic party extends to even a municipal campaign in St. Louis.

THE PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION AT BUFFALO

By WILLIAM L. BUCHANAN, Director-General
— BY COURTESY OF COLLIER'S WEEKLY.

HORTICULTURE EXHIBIT.

Will Be One of the Principal Features of the Exposition.

Horticulture, viticulture and floriculture are linked together in one great class. In the midst of a country of orchards and vineyards the Pan-American Exposition will have abundant material close at hand and of the finest quality from which to make an exhibit worthy of the great event. The extensive floral decorations of the grounds constitute a rich display in floriculture, and several acres, including hundreds of beds, are devoted to the exhibits made by leading florists of the country. Flowers in profusion will welcome the earliest visitors and breathe out their fragrance and display their incomparable beauty the season through. Thousands of trees and shrubs flourish throughout the grounds. Double rows of thrifty trees surround the principal buildings. Foliage and flowers there will be in great profusion. In the horticultural embellishment of the grounds the Pan-American will far surpass the efforts of all former expositions.

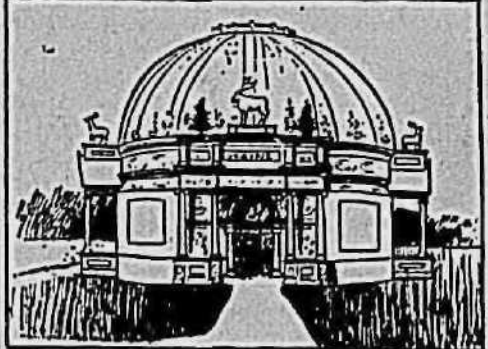

In the handsome and commodious Horticultural Building all the popular fruits of the different countries represented in the Pan-American Exposition will be displayed. With a suitable refrigerating room upon the grounds, it will be possible for the management to make a daily fresh display of fruit. Throughout the term of the Exposition, when certain fruits are at their best, special displays will be made of certain varieties. The exhibit from southern California will be particularly large, and New York and other states will be represented befittingly. Bottled productions will also have a place here, the wine growers of the Chautauque, central New York and Hudson river regions having applied for space for extensive exhibits. The opportunity for a timely display of choice native fruits will be improved. Dried and preserved fruits will be exhibited here. Articles and appliances used in horticulture will also be shown in this division.

The exhibits of nursery stock, including orchard and ornamental trees, shrubs and evergreens, will be unquestionably among the finest, if not the finest, ever made. The most prominent nurserymen in the country have interested themselves and will aim to outdo any former show of the kind. No less interest is taken by the leading florists, who are arranging exceptionally fine displays. BANDS FOR PAN-AMERICAN.

Their Music Will Be a Great Feature of the Exposition at Buffalo.

Arrangements have already been made for the appearance at the Pan-American Exposition of some of the most famous bands of the American Continent. Throughout the season, from May 1 to Nov. 1, concerts will be given daily in various parts of the Exposition grounds by these bands, and the variety of musical entertainment thus afforded will be a notable feature of the Exposition. Prominent among the organizations engaged is Sousa's Band, which is known wherever there are lovers of music and whose success in the rendition of military music has been remarkable.

The most notable achievement in the history of international events was perhaps the triumphal tour made by Sousa and his band through Europe, extending from April to September, 1900. It was 22 years since an American band had been heard on the European Continent, and so emphatic was the success of the American conductor and composer that the tour became a series of ovations throughout France, Germany, Belgium and Holland. It was the official band at the Paris Exposition.

The Mexican Government Mounted Band has been engaged to give concerts during the Exposition.

Fanciful's Seventy-first Regiment Band of New York has been engaged for a series of concerts during the season. This band has also a great reputation for its rendition of military music, and it followed Sousa's Band in the concerts at Manhattan Beach.

Canada will be represented by several bands, among them the famous Thirtieth Regiment Band of Hamilton, which is the crack band music organization of lower Canada.

The Elgin Band of Elgin, Ills., which stands very high in that state, has also been engaged.

Another well known band is the Carlisle Indian Band, which made a great hit in Washington and New York City.

When the Ancient and Honorable Artillery of Boston made their recent notable tour in Europe, they were accompanied by the Salem (Mass.) Cadet Band, which contributed much to the success of the tour. This band will also be heard at the Pan-American Exposition.

The Brooks Chicago Marine Band, E. B. Brooks conductor, which is considered by many the best in Chicago, will be heard.

Another band engaged is the Ithaca Band of Ithaca, N. Y., which is backed by E. N. Truman, one of the wealthy men of that section. It has achieved a great reputation in the central part of New York State.

The Boston Ladies' Military Band, which has been before the public for two or three years and made a pronounced success, has been engaged. It is spoken of highly by musical people in Boston.

Besides these bands from other portions of the United States, the best bands of Buffalo have been engaged for the Exposition, including the well known Seventy-fourth Regiment Band and the Sixty-fifth Regiment Band, which saw service at Camp Alger during the Spanish-American war.

Another band of Buffalo is Santa's Band, a strong organization.

These local bands have been strengthened to the number of 33 men each, and the leaders claim to have put them in a very fine condition, so that Buffalo need not be ashamed of the performances they will give during the progress of the great Exposition.

This is not a complete list of the bands which will be heard at the Pan-American, but simply shows the character of the entertainment to be provided.

Minerals at the Pan-American.

Minerals will be fully represented, comprising every production, both useful and ornamental, mined from the earth. All parts of the United States and every country of South and Central America, Canada, Mexico and the islands of the sea will contribute specimens for the exhibit. All kinds of machinery used in manipulating ores will be exhibited. The great advantages that the Americas have over the rest of the world in the wealth of their minerals in connection with climatic conditions, accessibility, etc., will be clearly illustrated. While the exhibits will be under the auspices of the various Governments, many individuals and mining companies will be represented by individual displays, representing their special interests.

LITERARY NOTES.

The outlook is accustoming, in its illustrated Monthly Magazine Number, to publish single-page features consisting each of an excellent portrait of a man prominently before the public, with a brief sketch of his life and achievements accompanying it. In the April Magazine Number the four men thus honored are Mr. Andrew Carnegie, Mr. W. W. Rockhill, now our only official representative in China, Professor Pupin, whose electrical inventions have lately been sold for half a million dollars, and Mr. E. A. Philbin, the new and reform District-Attorney for New York City. ($3 a year. The Outlook Company, 287 Fourth Avenue, New York.)

The March issue of McClure's Magazine is one of notable value, a value at once timely and permanent. The leading feature is a character study of Edward VII., written by the man in America most competent for the task, George W. Smalley, the correspondent of the London Times. Accompanying the article are pictures which form a series of portraits of the new sovereign from earliest youth to the present. Following this appreciation of the King, there is a collection of pictures of Queen Victoria. These are thirty in number, reproductions of photographs and paintings, and they are a complete souvenir of the monarch. A descriptive text accompanies them.

Weather Man Unskillful.

Tim Murphy, the popular comedian, saw an old colored woman sitting under an awning fanning herself when he was in Washington, D. C., last summer. "It's dreadfully hot, isn't it, mammy?" asked Mr. Murphy. "Deed it is, chile," said the old woman. "Deed it is. 'Tain't right for it to be so hot this-a-way. I tell you, forty years ago, when the blessed Lawd made the weather, we didn't have these stewing days, honey, no, 'deed, we didn't; but now these biggy men up at this here weather office has the making of the weather, they does send us anything they please, and they ain't skillful, they ain't skillful."

MILLBURN, ILL.

The Physical Culture Society comes high, but we must have it.

Mrs. J. M. Strang entertained a large company of friends Thursday evening.

C. B. Cummings, Geo. Gerrity and Mr. Harris were Chicago visitors last week.

Miss Jessie Strang who has been absent several months is expected home this week.

The church furniture is expected to arrive next week on special train from Grand Rapids.

Quite a number of our young people will attend the Easter collition at Antioch Monday evening.

William Chope will manage the mail route while W. G. Thom, the contractor, takes his usual spring vacation.

William McCann, who has been absent for the past year, has returned, and is the guest of Mrs. John Cunningham.

Mrs. Norman Adams and children, of Chicago, arrived Sunday evening and are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pantall.

"I had piles so bad I could get no rest nor find a cure until I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. After using it once I forgot I ever had anything like Piles." E. C. Boice, Somers Point, N. Y. Look out for imitations. Be sure you ask for DeWitt's. Sold by W. T. Hill.

The opponent's Elastic Yard-Stick.

Opponent of equal suffrage have made a wonderful invention—an elastic yardstick. By a judicious use of it, they propose to prevent women from voting. Whenever any woman does an unwise thing, they charge it against the whole body of women and gravely affirm that all women are unfit to vote. A few days ago some of the Daughters of the American Revolution, in a contested election, lost their temper and got into a verbal scuffle, which was telegraphed from Maine, to Mexico, as an evidence of woman's unfitness for self-government. The Boston Daily Herald, with owl-like gravity, in a leading editorial, contended that:

"The Washington action does not render it probable that women with full suffrage rights would be a success in public affairs, since if women are to have the suffrage all women must be admitted to it. The misbehaving Washington women must come in as well as the more properly conducting woman suffragists."

Yet, the same day, the Herald recorded the fact that a number of Irish members of Parliament refused to obey the authority of the Speaker, and had to be forcibly removed by a squad of policemen. Whereupon the Herald remarks that:

"The rumpus may be taken as proof that the Irish factions are even more thoroughly united than was supposed, and are starting out to follow the tactics laid down by their great Parliamentary leader, Parnell."

Here is the elastic yardstick applied respectively to the Irish and the woman. The Herald does not propose to disfranchise all Irishmen. That very day the Herald chronicled an assault committed by Senator J. H. Geiger, of Montana, upon A. B. Keith:

"Last night the men met in the lobby of the Senate chamber at the close of the extra session. Geiger rushed at Keith, who struck him a heavy blow on the forehead with a loaded cane. The Senator was stunned. Before he recovered Keith had walked away. Senator Geiger is now searching for Keith with a revolver, having threatened to kill him on sight. A shooting affair is regarded when they meet."

But the editor does not suggest the disfranchisement of all the men in Montana; not even of the Montana Senator. Again the elastic yardstick. Five days before, "a fierce fistfight" was chronicled between the German and Czech deputies in the Austrian Reichsrath. But nobody suggests that all Germans and Czechs should be forever disfranchised.

Mrs. Nation enforces Kansas law by smashing illegal saloons. She is cited as an awful example of "women in politics." But no one has proposed to disfranchise the legal liquor dealers, or the county officials who refuse to enforce the laws of Kansas. It is another case of the elastic yardstick, always used to the disadvantage of women.

HE KEPT HIS LEG.
Twelve years ago J. W. Sullivan, of Hartford, Conn., scratched his leg with a rusty wire. Inflammation and blood poisoning set in. For two years he suffered intensely. Then best doctors urged amputation, "but," he writes, "I used one bottle of Electric Bitters and 1 1/2 boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve and my leg was sound and well as ever." For Eruptions, Eczema, Tetter Salt Rheum, Sores and all blood disorders Electric Bitters has no rival on earth. Try them; W. T. Hill will guarantee satisfaction or refund money. Only 50c.

School Notes.

Lena Drury was absent from school Monday and Tuesday.

Lights are now seen in the school house every evening as the Seniors are practicing for their play which will be held in the Antioch opera house, April 13. "Look out for something good."

Mary Blair and Gertie Smart are absent from school this week.

Eva King visited High School one day last week.

Florence Fenderson is again at school, as the water at Channel Bridge has gone down.

A Testimonial from Old England.

"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the best in the world for bronchitis," says Mr. William Savory, of Warrington, England. "It has saved my wife's life, she having been a martyr to bronchitis for over six years, being most of the time confined to her bed. She is now quite well." It is a great pleasure to the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be able to publish testimonials of this character. They show that great good is being done, pain and suffering relieved and valuable lives restored to health and happiness by this remedy. For sale by W. H. Emmons, Antioch; Thomson's Pharmacy, Grayslake.

Northern Wisconsin Railroad Lands

are increasing in value from year to year. Railroads are the great civilizers, for they give the settler as well as the manufacturer equal opportunity to work in undeveloped fields, thereby rapidly settling the country and bringing forth its undiscovered riches. Northern Wisconsin is rich in iron ore, clay, kaolin, marl, timber and fine farm lands. It has made many a settler independent and added to the wealth of manufacturers who have sought this territory. Opportunities have not passed, as there is still a generous supply of land which can be obtained at low figures and on easy terms.

Don't Be Funny.

It does not pay. If you have a good thing, tell it right out. Don't use false means to attract attention. We say "right out," and mean it, too. That Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will cure every case of stomach trouble. It will stop any pain caused by indigestion; it knocks Sick Headache by attacking the cause of the complaint and aids you to digest your food, no matter what you eat.

Germany's High Class Teaching.

At the recent meeting of the Connecticut Valley grammar school masters held in Springfield, Mass., Dr. Balliet delivered an interesting address on the schools of Germany. The high school teacher in Germany is a scholar, a writer of books and often a teacher in one of the universities. The average teaching in Germany is better than it is in this country, and much of the teaching here would not be tolerated in Germany.

'Tis Easy to Feel Good.

Countless thousands have found a blessing to the body in Dr. King's New Life Pills, which positively cure Constipation, Sick Headache, Dizziness, Jaundice, Malaria, Fever and Ague and all liver and stomach troubles. Purely vegetable; never gripe or weaken. Only 25c at Hill's drug store.

Proposed Sale of Gallery.

In the last weeks of our war with Spain there was a project of raising money by selling the famous Prado gallery in Madrid. The value of the pictures is about $10,000,000 and this would have paid the war expenses for one month only.

Amnesty in Peru.

The Peruvian legislature has passed a law granting absolute amnesty to all persons who may have been concerned in any political transgression or offenses, with the right to fill public offices. All political prisoners confined in Lima have been set at liberty.

A Practicing Physician

in Monticello, Ill., formulated Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Ask W. T. Hill for it.

You will waste time if you try to cure indigestion or dyspepsia by starving yourself. That only makes it worse when you do eat hearty. You always need plenty of good food properly digested. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the result of years of scientific research for something that would digest not only some elements of food but every kind. And it is the one remedy that can do it. W. T. Hill.

CHINESE ANTIPATHY.

Traveler fails to form Attachment to the Mongolians.

E. E. Younghusband in the National Review: In traveling through a strange country for one's own pleasure one naturally tries to think the best of the people; and most of the people (except the Masbunas and Matabele) among whom I have traveled I have formed some attachment to. But between me and the Chinamen there always seemed a great gulf fixed which could never be overcome. The Chinese gentlemen I met during my three months' stay in the Pekin legation and the year I spent in Chinese Turkestan were always very polite, and often cheery and genial; but even then I could always detect a vein of condescension and superciliousness. They were polite because they are bred to rigid politeness, but I never felt drawn toward a Chinese gentleman as any one would be toward a Rajput, a Sikh, or an Afghan gentleman. I had with me on my journey from Pekin to India one companion only—a Chinese servant. He did his work excellently, and we never fell out. But, though we rode together for thousands of miles and shared many dangers in common, we were never really attached to each other; and I am absolutely certain that if I ever see him again he will never dream of jumping up and down and kissing my hands and feet in dog-like devotion, like my Chitrali servant did when I returned to Chitral at the close of the siege. As for the Chinese with whom I was brought in merely casual contact in passing through towns and villages, the only thing to be said is that they make no attempt whatever to disguise their aversion. No country is so unpleasant to travel in as China. It was a common experience to have mud and stones thrown at one in passing through a town, and to be greeted with scoffs and sneers by an excited mob. I gather, therefore, from this that the real, the instinctive attitude of the Chinese, as a whole, toward foreigners is one of intense antipathy; and if we consider the rigid conservatism of the people we may be certain that that antipathy will last for many a century yet. And very natural this antipathy is, many will say, and small wonder that they seek to keep the pushing foreigner at a distance. "China for the Chinese" is a thoroughly comprehensible sentiment; and what right have we Europeans to force ourselves in where we are not wanted?

FOR FIRE ENGINES.

New Device Which Adds to the Efficiency of the Machine.

Fire engine No. 39, on its way to a fire, whirling and rocking behind three big plunging bay horses, looks like an irresistible force to which one might well give a wide berth, says the New York Mail and Express. "But it is not so dangerous as it appears, for by a recent invention applied first to that engine for a test the driver from his seat in the box can bring the great machine to a full stop within the space of its own length. For a long time the fire department has felt the need of making the brake so long in use more efficient, and from suggestions made by Chief Croker, who is ever looking for new devices with which to equip his splendid department, Engineers Corson and Schurnbersky of engine No. 39 invented a brake attachment which meets the long-felt want. The invention consists simply of a cog wheel and "dog" acting as a lock upon the brake and easily worked from the driver's seat. The test made in front of fire headquarters in the presence of Chief Croker and other officials proved that the invention is a splendid success, and every engine and truck in the city will soon be equipped with it. The benefits arising from the new brake are at once apparent. It has been too great a task for a driver to handle three giant horses and at the same time hold the brake against the wheel when dashing down some heavy grade or trying to slow up before striking down some vehicle or careless pedestrian. Accidents without number which have happened are now made impossible, so effectively does the new dog and cog wheel hold the brake when once set. And now, instead of a long, steady strain, the driver has only to put the brake on notch by notch and "the little dog" does the rest. Often in dashing to a fire some part of the harness breaks and the horses, terrified by flying strap or crowding engine, take the bit in their teeth and usually tear things up before they are again brought under control. With the new brake they can be speedily brought to a standstill. With the new device it matters not with what speed the engine comes nor how steep the grade may be.

"I have been troubled with indigestion for ten years; have tried many things and spent much money to no purpose until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken two bottles and gotten more relief from them than all other medicines taken. I feel more like a boy than I have felt in twenty years." Anderson Riggs, of Sunny Lane, Tex. Thousands have testified as did Mr. Riggs. Sold by W. T. Hill.

Headache may be called a woman's ailment. Some men suffer from it. But almost all women have to endure its pain with each recurring month. This fact points at once to the intimate relation between the health of the delicate womanly organs, and the general health of the whole body. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription banishes headache by banishing its cause. It cures the diseases which irritate the delicate womanly organs, fret the nerves and waste the strength. It increases the vitality and builds up the nervous system. "Favorite Prescription" contains no opium, cocaine or other narcotic.

"I want to praise your medicine," writes Mrs. Sarah J. Bursey, of Crescent City, Putnam Co., Fla. "I have been sick for twenty years, and have been almost in bed five years, and now I am able to work all day. I have taken eight bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and four of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and one vial of 'Pell's.' I praise your medicine to all. I had the headache but it is gone. My throat is well and cough gone, and all my old troubles are better. I tried many other kinds of medicine and four doctors."

WEEK'S NEWS RECORD

A fire in which $200,000 worth of property was destroyed and five firemen, including Chief Hale, were injured occurred at the Jacob Dold Packing Company's plant on Eighth street, Kansas City, near the Kansas line. The cause of the fire is not known.

By an explosion of gas at a furnace in the Edgar Thomson steel works at Braddock, Pa., five men were terribly burned, two fatally. The men were plumbers and the explosion was caused by escaping natural gas from a broken main, igniting from the furnace.

Corset steel turned several bullets fired by George Meisner, a Burlington railway clerk, at Miss Ellen Stephens, his sweetheart, at her home in St. Joseph, Mo. Meisner had been insanely jealous of the girl and shot her because she permitted a rival to call at her home.

That only two lives instead of five were lost in a fire in a four-story house, 37 Moore street, Williamsburg, N. Y., is due to the work of three policemen, who by the lifeline made by their knotted belts, let down one of their number from the roof and saved three persons.

The findings of the military court of inquiry, which investigated the treatment alleged to have been accorded to the late Oscar L. Booz, a former cadet at West Point Military Academy, have been made public at Washington. The court finds that the death of Cadet Booz was not due to hazing.

The largest irrigation canal in the world was opened the other day and the waters of the Colorado river were turned in at the head gates below Yuma, Ariz. The canal is sixty miles in length and is navigable to small boats, which will be used for carrying freight to ranches along the route.

Detective Ed Morris and Policeman John Brossingham of Mobile, Ala., while attempting to arrest two negroes suspected of the murder of a marshal at Gulfport, Miss., were shot and probably fatally wounded by one of the negroes. The latter in turn was killed. The other negro was captured.

With a bullet through his heart, Francis Nichol Zabriskie, 27 years old, member of a distinguished old New York family, was found dead in bed in his bachelor apartments in that city. The police and the coroner agree that the young man committed suicide. Why he ended his life is a mystery.

Because Frank Matrazzle, in New York, would not consent to an immediate marriage of his pretty 14-year-old daughter, Carmello, to Jolomino Facilio, the latter tried to kill the whole Matrazzle family. He wounded four persons, including his sweetheart, her parents and himself, but all will recover.

Louis McDowell and Charles Meyer, alias "Milwaukee Dutch," jumped through the window of a moving Missouri Pacific train at Valley Park, Mo., and made their escape from the custody of Sheriff Kiekham of St. Louis and his deputies, who were taking them to Jefferson City to serve penitentiary sentences.

NEWS NUGGETS.

The blast furnace operators of the Mahoning valley have granted the demand of the furnace workers for an increase of 20 cents per day in pay.

At Reform, Ala., the safe in the express office was blown open and $4,000 in money secured. The robbers escaped. The money is understood to be State funds.

The girls in the roller department of Cherry's big cigar factory in Lancaster, Ohio, struck for an advance of 2c on the hundred. Their demand was refused and all but two quit the factory.

Owing to apprehensions of attempts by anarchists upon the life of the Sultan, his majesty intends to completely exclude tourists from the precincts of the Yildiz Kiosk, Constantinople.

American flags—nearly two tons of them—have been contracted for in Chicago, with "rush orders," that on July 4 the red, white and blue may flutter from every school house in Porto Rico.

James Stephens, the well-known Fenian leader of the 1880 movement, died at his home at Sutton, Ireland, in the pretty cottage which was presented to him by his countrymen after his return from exile.

Upon his return from Europe Perry Heath, it is said, will be offered the post of chief of the department of publicity of the St. Louis exposition. It is suggested that the salary will be $10,000 per annum.

In the Arkansas House of Representatives a personal encounter occurred between Representatives J. A. Leary of Lee County and S. M. Black of St. Francis County over a local bill affecting Lee County.

Maurice Barrymore, known to all theatergoers, one of the most conspicuous of leading men for many years, became suddenly insane in New York and was taken to the pavilion for the insane at Bellevue hospital.

Tom L. Johnson, millionaire street car magnate, has been elected Mayor of Cleveland, Republicans capturing remaining offices. Democrats carried Columbus. "Golden Rule" Jones has been re-elected as Mayor of Toledo.

The little gunboat Petrel, one of Dewey's famous Manila bay conquerors, caught fire at Cavite, on Manila bay, causing the death of Lieutenant Commander Jesse Mims Roper and the destruction of twenty-two officers and men.

President McKinley ignored the jealousy of regular army officers and rewarded Gen. Funston by making him a brigadier general.

All the blast furnace operators in the Youngstown, Ohio, district posted notices granting their employees an advance in wages of 10 cents per day. The men demand a 20-cent advance.

Roland Reed, the popular comedian, died at the residence of Mrs. Rush in New York, which he had long made his home. He had made a brave fight against disease, but cancer of the intestines finally conquered him.

FUNSTON IS REWARDED.

Kansas Soldier Made Brigadier in the Regular Army.

Gen. Fred Funston has been appointed by the President as a brigadier general in the regular army, as a reward for his bravery in the capture of Aguinaldo, Gen. Lloyd Wheaton was made a major general and Col. Jacob H. Smith was promoted to a brigadier general. Gen. Funston is the youngest of the general officers of the army, being only 35 years old. He will not reach the voluntary retirement age until 1923, or four years after Gen. Leonard Wood retires. It is among the possibilities that Funston will become the lieutenant general commanding the army.

The promotion of Gen. Funston, announced forty-eight hours after the news of his bold exploit in capturing Aguinaldo reached the United States, is a Washington correspondent, a body blow to the desk soldiers of the War Department. No warrior in recent times, not even excepting Gen. Miles, has aroused such bitter resentment and enmity as the little soldier from Kansas by his daring conception and bold execution. Every man of influence in the department from Secretary Root down was arrayed against Funston, and the President was urged to hold up the plan of making him a brigadier general in the regular service until a complete investigation of his recent achievement should be made.

The President, however, was not willing to shoulder the responsibility of turning Funston down or of withholding from him the star of brigadier general in the reorganized army. He made this clear when he personally sent a congratulatory message to Gen. MacArthur instructing the commander of the army in the Philippines to convey his high appreciation of the gallant conduct of Gen. Funston and the officers and men of the army and navy engaged with him in the Palanan expedition.

Gen. Funston was notified by cable of the President's action. He will undoubtedly be retained in the Philippines for a long time to come and given further opportunities to display the valor and daring which has characterized his conduct since he first landed at Manila as the colonel of the Twentieth Kansas volunteers in the summer of 1903.

The situation in the far East has continued to cause uneasiness. China's sudden show of independence has not, unfortunately, cleared up the situation. Russia is in possession of Manchuria, and seems content to wait on the natural course of diplomatic events, for Russia is never in a hurry. As to the Manchurian treaty itself Great Britain has protested to Russia over its signature. Russia has responded that the treaty, so-called, is not really a treaty, but a paper more in the nature of a modus vivendi. Great Britain has replied that she has no objection to a temporary agreement implied in a modus vivendi, but has called Russia's attention to the secrecy involved in the Manchurian agreement, and announced that until that mystery is cleared away British objection to the signature will stand. Japan, who has more at stake than any of the powers, has assumed an attitude diplomatically correct.

Some keen observers of events in the far East do not hesitate to declare that war between Russia and Japan is inevitable. War is, it must be admitted, always a possibility between Russia and Japan; but the danger in the present situation lies deeper than a conflict, probable or possible, between the two powers most directly interested in the far East. This danger is the dismemberment of the Chinese Empire, that is likely to begin the moment Russia seizes Manchuria. Germany, France, England, Italy and Japan are likely to claim Chinese territory to compensate themselves for what they may consider a disturbance in the balance of power in the far East, and with China paroled out among the powers, American commercial interests may suffer. Russia, more than any nation of Europe, is menaced by internal and external dangers. Until a satisfactory solution of the far Eastern situation is reached there is a constant menace of war with Japan. And at home there is the ever present danger of revolution.

The Czar is undoubtedly in a state bordering on panic, if all reports from St. Petersburg are to be believed. The recent demonstrations of the people compelled him to leave St. Petersburg and take up a temporary residence in Tsarskoe Park, seventeen miles south of his capital. And early in the week it was announced that a mine had been discovered beneath the palace in Tsarskoe Park. The Czar's plight is probably unhappier than that of any other monarch in Europe.

In ordinary times the Salisbury ministry in England would be considered on the verge of dissolution. Its majority in the House of Commons is restive and insolent. The Unionist members make no secret of their impatience with the ministry of the Conservatives. The ministry is confronted with the necessity of imposing new burdens of taxation to meet the enormous and constantly increasing expense of the war in South Africa. Lord Salisbury seems to be playing with what have long been regarded as British interests in the far East. Balfour has exhibited a lamentable lack of knowledge of the diplomatic negotiations with other powers, and unable to answer simple questions in the House of Commons, even at a moment when his colleague is discussing them frankly in the House of Lords.

From Rome, comes the statement that Pope Leo, alarmed at the rapid spread of the anti-clerical campaign throughout Europe, has appointed a committee of Cardinals to study the situation. In France anti-clericalism has become an issue of national politics so overshadowing that it is championed by the ministry and sustained by large majorities in the Chamber of Deputies. In Spain the anti-clerical feeling has received no governmental sanction. If anything, the government of Spain will use the army to put down the demonstration.

AGUINALDO IS OURS.

Filipino Chief Is Captured by Americans in Luzon.

PRISONER AT MANILA.

Long Chase Results in the Trapping of Leader of the Insurrection.

Gen. Funston's Adroit Race to Secure the Willy Native Proves to Be a Success—His Staff Is Taken with Him—Rebel Officers Found in Camp Near Casiguran, Nine Miles from Baler—More Fame for Brave Kansas.

Emilio Aguinaldo, leader of the Filipino army and head and shoulders of the islanders' insurrection, is a prisoner in the hands of the Americans. He was brought to Manila by Gen. Funston, by whom he was captured in Isabela province, about six days' march inland from the east coast of Luzon, north of Baler.

Aguinaldo was captured on March 23, in the country near Casiguran, nine miles from Baler. All members of his staff were taken prisoners at the same time and were brought with him to Manila on the gunboat Vicksburg.

Funston, when he started on the expedition which resulted in the capture of Aguinaldo, had with him a company of native, and was assisted by Capt. John Newton of the Thirty-fourth volunteer infantry, Lieut. Admire of the Twenty-second infantry, Lieut. Mitchell of the Fortieth volunteers and Surgeon Major Harris. The expedition was conveyed by the gunboat Vicksburg and the cruiser Albany to a landing place on the east coast of Luzon, north of Baler.

The rebel chieftain's hiding place was revealed by a Filipino officer, who turned over to Gen. MacArthur a letter from Aguinaldo. The letter ordered the Filipino officer and other leaders of the insurgent forces in southern Luzon to meet him at a designated rendezvous in Isabela province.

Gen. Funston at once proposed to head an expedition to Isabela province in an effort to capture Aguinaldo. After much discussion Gov. Gen. MacArthur consented and preparations were begun.

Funston's plan of operations was unique. After being landed on the east coast Funston and his four American companions were to play the role of prisoners in the hands of the natives, who were to represent themselves to Aguinaldo as loyal Filipinos. When brought before Aguinaldo the latter was to be seized by Funston's native troops and made a prisoner.

The adventure was a desperate one, as its success or failure depended on the faithfulness of Funston's native soldiers. They were Macabebes, who have been loyal to the United States almost from the day the American troops landed. They were worthy of the trust imposed on them, as proven by the success of the enterprise.

Funston's plans went through as well as they had been planned. Aguinaldo fell into the trap, was made a prisoner, and was brought to Manila in the gunboat Vicksburg, which remained cruising off the east coast of Luzon for that purpose. His capture may mean the end of the war.

WHERE AGUINALDO WAS CAPTURED.

The above map of a portion of the island of Luzon shows the relative position of the province of Isabela, in which the insurgent leader was captured, to Manila. The northeastern portion of the island is wild, mountainous and unsettled. It is almost inaccessible, except by water. The early dispatches said that the capture was effected "near Casiguran, nine miles from Baler," but is inaccurate, since that would involve his capture in Nueva Vizcaya instead of in Isabela. Gen. MacArthur's official dispatch names Palanan as the spot. This is evidently the same as Paranan shown in the accompanying map. Palanan is a town on the eastern coast of Isabela province, situated somewhat inland on a river which flows into the Gulf of Palanan. Between the coast and the Rio Grande, which flows northward, toward northern Luzon, are the Sierra Madre mountains, a coast range which is almost impassable. Palanan and the coast towns where Aguinaldo has been hiding could only be reached by the water route.

FUNSTON'S OWN STORY.

Tells of How the Elusive Aguinaldo Was Captured.

A dispatch from Manila gives Gen. Funston's account of his capture of Aguinaldo. Funston took with him seventy-eight Macabebes, on whom he could depend, and nearly half of whom were the insurgent uniform. The Macabebes were commanded by four ex-insurgent officers, one being a Spaniard. The five Americans were plain blue shirts and khaki trousers. Arriving in that section where Aguinaldo was known to be, letters to which had been forged the name of Lacuna, an insurgent general, were forwarded to Aguinaldo, stating that the Funston party was a company of insurgent troops, sent at the request of Aguinaldo. It was given out that the Americans were a part of an engineering corps that had been surprised and captured. Aguinaldo was highly pleased, and ordered the party to come to him. It was a nine days' march before the leader's quarters were reached. Aguinaldo's household troops, fifty in number, were lined up to receive the visitors. The party marched up, and the house in which Aguinaldo was staying was surrounded. Quickly the Spanish officer gave the order to the Macabebes: "Now, Macabebes, go for them." The Macabebes opened fire, killing three insurgents. Aguinaldo, not comprehending the situation, rushed to the window and shouted: "Stop that foolishness; quit wasting ammunition." Hilario Placido, a Tagalog officer, and former insurgent leader, threw his arms around Aguinaldo, crying: "You are a prisoner of the Americans!" Aguinaldo fought, and others rushed to his aid, Placido shot Col. Siemone Villia, Aguinaldo's chief of staff. Meanwhile the firing outside was hot and heavy, under the direction of Funston himself. The insurgents soon fled, leaving Aguinaldo and Santiago Barcelona, the insurgent treasurer, prisoners. Aguinaldo was at first very much excited, but soon calmed down. From private papers secured it was discovered that Aguinaldo on Jan. 23 had proclaimed himself dictator. The party then made a forced march to Palanan bay, where they were taken on board the gunboat Vicksburg. Aguinaldo declared he would never have been captured except by stratagem, but admitted he had been hard pressed on many occasions.

VENEZUELA IS DEFIANT.

Minister Loomis Recalled to Washington in Interest of Peace.

Although the officials of the State Department adhere to their statement that Mr. Loomis, the United States minister at Caracas, has been recalled for the purpose of consultation (a technically correct explanation), his home-coming, according to a Washington dispatch, has an international significance of a serious character. From that has been learned of the existing relations between Venezuela and the United States, it is believed that no single incident was the basis for the minister's recall. General conditions are responsible for the turn affairs have taken.

Summed up briefly, the decision of the administration to summon Mr. Loomis to Washington was due to the fact that the attitude of the Venezuelan federal authorities toward the American government and American citizens in that country had become well nigh intolerable, and the tension had become so great that it was apparent to everybody familiar with the circumstances that trouble between the two nations was likely to occur at any time, and could not, in fact, be long postponed, unless something were done to avert it.

FRAUDS AT MANILA.

ARMY OFFICERS SAID TO HAVE STOLEN MILLIONS.

Captain Barrows, Chief Commissariat, Seven Sergeants and Many Business Men Arrested Charged with Having Looted Government Store.

A gigantic swindle by which, it is charged, the government of the United States has been robbed of millions of dollars has been unearthed in Manila, and the disclosures thus far made indicate that the extent of the frauds has been more far-reaching than any which have been perpetrated against the government in recent years. Only the barest facts concerning the swindles have thus far been learned, but these are sufficient, it is claimed, to show that a systematic robbery of the government has been going on for some time.

Captain Frederick C. Barrows of the Thirtieth volunteer infantry, quartermaster of the department of southern Luzon, together with seven commissary sergeants, several civilian clerks, a prominent government contractor, the assistant manager of the Hotel Oriente, the proprietors of three of the largest bakeries in Manila, and several storekeepers and other persons, have been arrested.

The investigation scarcely has begun, but thousands of sacks of flour, a quantity of bacon and wagon loads of other goods, all bearing government marks, have been found in the possession of unauthorized persons. It is alleged that the contractor in question, who has been doing a business approximating $100,000 a month, has spent huge sums in entertaining officers. It is asserted that large quantities of stores have been lost or stolen in transit, and also that there is a shortage in the commissary depot.

New scandals are developed daily. Illicit transactions have been traced back to June, 1900, and it is possible that there are others of earlier date. The high tariff on provisions makes the surreptitious sale of commissary supplies immensely profitable.

Lieut. Philip K. Sweet of the Forty-sixth volunteer infantry is prosecuting the investigation under the direction of Col. Wilder, chief of police.

It was said at both the White House and War Department Monday morning that absolutely nothing had been received by the government regarding the alleged unearthing of crooked work on the part of army quartermasters and others in Luzon and the arrest of a number of persons in and out of the army for stealing property of the government or receiving stolen government property.

Gen. Corbin said furthermore that the government had no intimation of any sort that such developments might be expected. He was inclined for this reason to think the frauds against the government could hardly be so serious as reported, though admitting this opinion was based wholly on the lack of advices from the government.

DEATH IS A HERO'S LOT.

Fire in the Gunboat Petrel Kills Lieutenant Commander Roper.

In a heroic attempt to save the life of a seaman in a fire on board the United States gunboat Petrel at Cavite, P. I., Lieutenant Commander Jesse Mims Roper, commander of the vessel, lost his life. Lieut. J. S. McKenna and Cadet John E. Lewis of the Petrel suffered severely in snatching the body of Commander Roper from the flames. Twenty-two members of the crew were prostrated in the fire from the smoke, ten of them being in a serious condition, but it is thought all will recover.

Fire was discovered in the saloon of the Petrel. The saloon is a small compartment adjoining the magazine. The heat was intense, the smoke suffocating and the flames difficult to extinguish.

Lieutenant Commander Roper was the first to descend into the hold, but he was forced to return to the deck by the dense smoke. Others then went down. Seaman Patrick Toner was overcome and was about to perish when Commander Roper again plunged down into the saloon, despite the warnings, and endeavored to rescue him and was suffocated in the attempt.

The contents of the saloon were destroyed, but the damage to the gunboat was slight. The origin of the fire has not been ascertained, but possibly it was a case of spontaneous combustion.

OSAR TAKEN TO TASK.

Japan Makes a Direct Protest Against Manchurian Treaty.

A dispatch from Tokyo says that Japan has made direct representations to St. Petersburg against the signing of the Manchurian convention. The result is unknown, but it is hoped that Russia will recognize the justice and peaceful purpose of Japan's attitude. Public opinion vehemently opposes concession. This is reflected by the journals of all shades of opinion. The cabinet, though prudent and pacific, is impressed by the national enthusiasm, which will certainly become uncontrollable if there should be undue yielding.

The Yokohama correspondent of the London Daily Mail says that the situation is the most critical since the Japanese-Chinese war. There is abnormal activity at the various arsenals. Large stocks of coal and war material are being accumulated. Count Okuma, in an interview, said that the only alternatives are to strike a decisive blow at Russia or leave her alone. A war with Russia would mean a just war against an enemy of justice, commerce, peace and civilization. Prince Konoye, president of the House of Peers, says that the law of self-preservation prevents Japan from allowing Russia a free hand in Manchuria.

THE DUTY OF MOTHERS.

What suffering frequently results from a mother's ignorance, or more frequently from a mother's neglect to properly instruct her daughter!

Tradition says "woman must suffer," and young women are so taught. There is a little truth and a great deal of exaggeration in this. If a young woman suffers severely she needs treatment, and her mother should see that she gets it.

Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination; but no mother need hesitate to write freely about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham and secure the most efficient advice without charge. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

Mrs. August Pfalzgraf, of South Byron, Wis., mother of the young lady whose portrait we here publish, wrote Mrs. Pinkham in January, 1899, saying her daughter had suffered for two years with irregular menstruation—had headache all the time, and pain in her side, feet swell, and was generally miserable. Mrs. Pinkham promptly replied with advice, and under date of March, 1899, the mother writes again that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her daughter of all pains and irregularity.

Nothing in the world equals Mrs. Pinkham's great medicine for regulating woman's peculiar monthly troubles.

Glasgow Officials Are Thrifty. Electric motor dust carts are procured by the Glasgow municipal authorities, and until they are really old motors will be used. Economy is the object in view. For the collection of waste paper the city fathers organized a uniformed boys' brigade, which collects eighteen tons per week and reports a profit of $1,000 per annum. The wastefulness of the housewife and the economy of the corporation are well illustrated by the fact that the boilers at the three largest stations of the cleansing department are fired and the machinery driven solely by the use of clinders, which are thrown out from dwelling houses and saved by scavengers from the accumulated waste.

INDIAN MISSIONARY'S STORY.

Years of Tolls on Ministry Among the Choctaws.

Little York, Ind., April 2.—(Special.)—Twenty-five years ago, the Rev. C. H. Thompson left Indiana. For a time he preached in Arkansas, afterwards entering on the regular missionary work among the Choctaw Indians.

For five years he lived and labored among the full bloods of the western prairies, until on April 1, 1885, having lost his wife, he left the circuit on which he had preached so long, and commenced traveling missionary work among the Indians of the various tribes scattered in the West.

The irregular work involved a great deal of travel over the prairies. The drinking of so much alkali water, brought on Kidney Troubles, which terminated in Diabetes.

Finally, while laboring among the Creek Indians at Wagoner, Indian Territory, this noble man was stricken down completely. A Chicago specialist was summoned, and after a careful examination, declared that there was not the slightest chance of his recovery. Besides the prescriptions of the doctors, he tried many other medicines, but all to no avail. He says:

"I had concluded that my days were drawing to a close, when I picked up an Almanac telling me of the cures of Diabetes by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I sent for two boxes. I gained strength and spirits from the time I commenced to use them, and so I sent for more. I am now completely cured, and have not the slightest symptom of my old trouble.

"I am 68 years of age. I tell everybody of the wonders Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for me. I can certainly endorse them heartily, and vouch that they are all that is claimed for them. They have certainly been a God-send to me."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only remedy that has ever cured Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Dropsy and they never fail.

AN EASTER BONNET

Aunt Rhoda Hemenway was about to be married. Having never listened to her young days to a syllable on love and matrimony, now, at the age of fifty-five, she suddenly astonished all her relatives by blushing them to her marriage with Luke Hitter, a shrewd, well-to-do farmer, who had lived a neighbor to her all his life. "With all her property and her set, particular ways; it can't be possible!" each and all exclaimed in different ways, dropping our letters of invitation.

I had a special call to present myself a few days before the marriage feast, being considered in the family a favorite of Aunt Rhoda's. He was Bathsheba, son, Aunt Rhoda's favorite sister, who married early and went away from the homestead with her husband to settle in what was then the "far West," now a flourishing town in Illinois. I had heard of him since I could remember, but had never seen him. That there was a person whom I could dislike more thoroughly than this same John I had never believed. Now it was a fact, for I had met, he arriving at the Hemenway homestead the day before the wedding.

Aunt Rhoda was to perpetrate matrimony on Easter eve. She had allowed me the day to do little services for her, thus, bowing her favor, so at about 7 o'clock we were none of us astonished to hear her say:

"Run, Hitty, and get my bonnet from the spare room cupboard. It's about time I put it on. Try it on; it's good luck."

Quite as thought I drew out the wedding bonnet, and threw it over my brown braids. It was a heavy affair of gray shiraz silk, without the scrap of a bow to lighten it, and only one dull stiff feather, looking for all the world like Aunt Rhoda herself, set straight in the center. And as I pulled it into place with the eager fingers of eighteen on a nuptial prank, the old thing settled dismally from its own weight over my little head. I laughed aloud, it was so ludicrously the opposite of a festive bonnet, such as a voice struck my ear.

"Very appropriate. Don't, pray, remove it!" I turned to see Cousin John in the doorway.

"Such obliged for your opinion, which was unasked," I managed to say coolly, drawing aside the headgear, where, I did not stop to see, and turning to him. He bowed with that supercilious smile of his, and took himself off. Bursting with indignation, I set about picking up the bonnet. I could not find it. Not with dropping to my hands and knees to search that grain carpet could that headgear be brought to light. It was only when a careful smell of something burning struck my olfactory that it flashed upon me where it was. I flew back to the heavy, claw-footed dressing table, that stood "on a barge" in the corner of the room. How I moved it! I never could tell. At last the bonnet was in my hand, the stiff feather that remained still burning indignantly. At sight of it I gave a cry before I could control myself. That I had broken up the marriage I had not a doubt. I knew my aunt well enough to deliver her willing to give up her great-est treasure rather than to break one of her properties of life. And to be married without a bonnet was, in her eyes, a grim joke for silly little things among young men and their wives. And when they looked and saw that I had done cake. No time to lose. Steps sound along the entry. Even now I may be late!

"Something's burning!" exclaimed a voice, just as I escaped wedding bonnet in hand, through an opposite door and down a dark and little-used passage.

The passage led to the back yard I knew, and out on the flat stone that served as a step. I only stopped to gather up my long, pretty nun's veiling train. It seemed hours before I could place my hand on the brass knocker adorning Miss Slack's little shop. At last it clanged so sharply as to bring almost immediately a frowny little girl, who retreated behind a tall pewter candlestick, with terror in every feature.

"I want to see Miss Slack at once," I cried, pushing the child aside to hurry into the little entry and shake off the damp snow.

"You can't, she's gone," said the girl, staring at me and the bonnet.

"Gone? Where?"

"To the wedding," said the girl. "She went early so as to see the folks come in, and get a good seat."

I sank down on the lowest stair, bonnet and all, but immediately jumped up again.

"See here, little girl," I cried, "I want a gray feather to put on this bonnet. Something has happened to it."

"I know. It's got burnt. I smell it," the girl said from behind her candle.

"Well, get another one for me as quick as you can, and don't stand there talking," I cried impatiently. "It's gray—dark gray. Hurry up—you must know where she keeps them."

"She hasn't got any—not that shade," said the girl, examining the feather. "Hers are all black and white, beside she's got a green one, yes, and a yellow, but she hasn't got a gray one."

"Take me to her box of feathers and I will look for myself," I cried, turning to the shop door. "I'll pay her to-morrow. Is Hitty Farrar, Miss Hemenway's niece. It's all right. Now open this door."

I laid my hand on the knob as I spoke. "I can't. It's locked and she's got the key. She always does when she goes out—afraid somebody's get in."

Every particle of blood seemed to desert me at this juncture, and for a moment I felt as if sinking to the cellar.

"That's the thing that brought me to my senses was hearing the girl say:

"Aunt Hitty going? I want to look the door." And I found myself out in the road.

A dark object stood encreased in mist. It was a carriage. A man sprang out. It was my Cousin John.

"Cousin Hitty, get into my chaise," he said.

"Not for a thousand worlds," I cried, striking out for home and wrapping my soggy dress around the poor bonnet.

"You silly child!" exclaimed my cousin. "Without further preamble he took me in his arms, hurried me out to the carriage and put me therein, the wedding bonnet, in the meanwhile slipping to the ground.

"We're almost home; I want to say one thing to you—"

"Well?"

"I want to say—"

"Well, if you are going to scold me, pray wait," I cried. "I shall have enough of that soon."

"I wasn't going to scold you," said Cousin John. "It was only going to say something to you and I have a wedding of our own. Then you'd look after your bonnet."

"What do you mean?" And then I laughed.

"I mean," he said, with extra dignity, "that I am going to marry me. Will you?"

"Goodness!" I cried, and, reaching the hitching post by Aunt Rhoda's door, I sprang out before he could remonstrate.

The next moment I was before the bride and groom. The buzz of conversation stopped instantly. It was as still as death throughout the room.

"Folks!" said Mrs. Luke Potter, in harsh tones, "you thought best to take my wedding night to play pranks with what was given to you in trust. Now I take the time to say before every one present that you shall never touch a penny of mine. You may march out of this house as soon as you find it convenient. That's all; now go."

"Instead of going we have a word to say," declared Cousin John, at his tallest, and drawing the roomful within his glance, "and will use no hesitancy in airing it now. We are betrothed, Aunt Rhoda," he announced, turning his handsome head toward Mrs. Potter, "and, begging your pardon, don't in the least care for your old money. Now, then, all come on with your congratulations."

I felt a warning pinch on my cold fingers to hold in check the astonishment in my eyes at hearing a betrothal announced that had never taken place. And then such a wealth of peace and strength came into my heart, that I was happy just to be near him. I was in a world of love and protection, and I forgot to shiver with the cold, while I smiled and blushed in the right places as the relatives trooped around us with their astonished congratulations. Uncle Abel came as soon as he could extricate himself from his corner.

"Well, young man," he said, excitedly, "you've done well in a short time, too, eh?"

"That's so," said Cousin John, giving the brown hand a hearty shake. (He told me afterward he was aching to wring his neck.) "But long enough to know my own mind."

"The first moment I could I drew Cousin John out into a corner of the old hall, at least three yards away from any sharp ear.

"Oh, how could you?" I cried. "We've never been engaged. I told you 'No.'"

"Can't help it; your eyes said 'Yes.' There's no stopping it now, Hitty. We'll have a wedding bonnet of our own."

AN EASTER MESSAGE.

What message from this Easter land,
Over the green hills shall I send?
The hills that you love, sweet friend,
Would whither ere they touched your hand.

And for this song—so many notes
Are ringing round you, it would be Lost in the air, if it sinking to the cellars,
From the far thrushes' thrilling throats.

What message, then? What word of grace?
What blessing from the hills and streams
To make a music in your dreams
And lighten with a smile your face?

Only this word: All this sweet time
May all God's hills bloom for you;
May all the Easter skies bend blue
And sweeter bells than earth-bells chime.

God's world be beautiful and bright
Forever, round you, and for a moment
His love be with you to the end—
A sun by day, a star by night.

All gifts of wealth and fame above
Still may your life, divinely blest,
Keep in the light-sweet vales of rest
The deathless lilacs of His love!

An Easter Surprise.

RUSSIA MAY FIGHT.

SEEMS ONLY WAY SHE CAN GET CONCESSION.

China Rejects Terms of Manchurian Convention—Japan Had Determined on War, but Conditions Switch Around, and Now It Is Russia's Turn.

Russia has been checkmated in its own favorite game of diplomacy. China has toyed with the Czar's representatives about the Manchurian convention so long that diplomats had made their minds up that a bluff was being worked and Russia had the situation well in hand. So firmly had this idea found root that England had practically retired from the field disgruntled and resentful, fully satisfied that Russia would have a clear sweep in its demand on China.

The news that the Manchurian convention has not been signed upsets all that. It now seems plain China has played a waiting game and had Russia's moral support when the other powers were menacing her fiercely on the indemnity question. Now that the indemnity situation is to all intents and purposes disposed of China boldly announces that Russia can have no concessions.

A London correspondent asserts that there can be only one result to this pronouncement. Russia cannot back down. China dare not recede. Japan is determined to fight for its own rights, which the Manchurian convention seriously menaced. Therefore Russia will have to force China to yield and that will mean Japanese intervention and war.

History of the Trouble.

It was early in November that unconfirmed stories were afloat concerning the conclusion of a secret treaty between Russia and China. The first reports emanated from Paris, and later the same statements regarding the occupation of Manchuria by the Russians came from Odessa. Immediately on the Manchurian convention becoming known, the Japanese government regarded the act of Russia with suspicion and orders were given for the Japanese navy to hasten eastward. Still this government felt that it was powerless beyond making an emphatic protest against the secret agreement.

Then as the different powers realized that China and Russia were acting together, vigorous protests were made against the accession of the Manchurian province without consultation of all the powers. To this Russia made answer that it claimed the right to negotiate with any other power it chose without consultation or notification to any other government. This reply was supposed to have been directed against England in particular, as that country claimed to have possessions along the line of the railway.

The terms of the proposed Russian-Chinese convention still remain secret, though it is known that a number of modifications have been made to the original treaty. The first of these declares that Kinchow and Port Arthur shall not be annexed, but, as at present, leased from the Chinese government. The second modification is that Russia will not insist upon a Russian resident at Hoken. In the third clause it is stated that the Chinese army will be permitted to maintain order in Manchuria prior to the completion of the railway, which it is declared will not require Russian protection during construction. The final modification declares that Russia will forego her demand that mining and railway concessions in Mongolia, Turkestan and Kashgaria shall be granted to none but Russian subjects.

Uncle Sam Will Pay Well for Educators in the Philippines.

Places are open for 1,000 trained American teachers in the Orient. This is the result of the establishment of a general department of public instruction for the Philippines, with a central office in Manila under the direction of a general superintendent, to be appointed by the Philippine commission, at a salary of $6,000 per annum.

Schools are to be established in every pueblo in the archipelago, where practicable, and those already established shall be reorganized where necessary. The salaries of the division superintendents and teachers and the curricula for primary, secondary and other public schools are to be established by the general superintendent. He also is to exercise general supervision over the entire department. According to the terms of the act the English language, as soon as practicable, shall be made the basis of all public instruction, and soldiers may be detailed as instructors until replaced by trained teachers.

Authority is given to the general superintendent to obtain from the United States 1,000 trained teachers at salaries of not less than $75, nor more than $100, a month, the exact salary to be fixed according to the efficiency of the teacher. The act provides that no teacher or other person shall teach or criticize the doctrines of any church, religious sect or denomination, or shall attempt to influence the pupils for or against any church or religious sect in any public school. Violation of this section is made punishable by summary dismissal from the public service.

TOUR OF THE DUKE AND DUCHESS OF YORK.

The sailing of the Duke and Duchess of York for Australia is the beginning of a grand tour of the British colonies which the heir apparent and his wife are to make during the next few months. After opening the new federal parliament in Melbourne on May 9, they will visit South Africa, the West Indies and Canada. It is possible that they may also visit the United States. The entire trip will be made on the steamer Ophir, a fast, staunch ship, which has been fitted especially for the convenience of the royal pair and their suit.

On the side of the rock at Gibraltar four huge reservoirs have been cut, capable of holding 5,000,000 gallons of water. Each tank, by means of gauze wire, can be made mosquito-proof, thus preventing this pest, prevalent in hot weather, from introducing any germs of disease. In the event of siege this water supply would be invaluable.

Some time ago the use of gasoline lamps in Ohio was forbidden by the oil inspectors of the State. The manufacturers of these lamps have obtained an opinion from the Attorney General of the State, in which he holds that lamps invented since the passage of the law in 1894, and which provide for vaporizing the gasoline and burning the vapor instead of using wicks, do not come under the ban of the law.

Germany has had a visitation of the red rain.

ILLINOIS LAWMAKERS

Without a dissenting voice the House voted on Tuesday to adjourn sine die April 20. The House senatorial apportionment committee voted to report favorably Senator McKenzie's resolution for a constitutional amendment limiting Cook County's representation in the Legislature to one-third the total number of Representatives and Senators. The decision to adjourn sine die April 20 and the strong probability that the McKenzie resolution, which was passed by the Senate, may be adopted by the House are regarded as a strong indication that the House leaders intend to force the Cook County Republican insurgents into line for the senatorial apportionment bill. Senator Gardner's bill abolishing the office of State's architect, was passed by the Senate. The House passed the committee bill increasing the number of judges in Cook County. The bill makes the number of Circuit judges seventeen instead of fourteen, and of the Superior judges fifteen instead of twelve. After an exciting debate the Senate judiciary committee voted to report favorably the Sumway bill repealing the Case garnishment act and re-enacting the old law. Trades unionists and retail merchants appeared before the committee, and the trades unionists won out.

Three public service bills were introduced in the House on Wednesday by Representative Dunlap which doubtless will attract considerable attention. One bill delegates power to municipalities to own, operate and lease street car lines and other public service industries or to contract with private corporations to supply such public service. The second bill seeks to regulate the issuing of bonds for the purpose of acquiring public service industries. The third provides for uniform accounting and independent public auditing. Representative Katerberg of Chicago introduced a bill entitled "An act to regulate corporations engaged in operating street railroads and elevated railroads in counties of the third class."

The bill applies only to Cook County and requires street railroad companies organized under the proposed act to turn all excess profits over a 10 per cent dividend into the city treasury every six months. The Senate bill providing that any part of any village or incorporated town lying upon the border thereof and having a population of not less than 300 may be organized as a village was passed by the House without the emergency clause, the vote standing 63 to 5. Gov. Yates sent to the Senate the following appointments: W. O. Forbes of Cook County for member of the State Board of Health, Thomas J. Clark of Adams County for commissioner of the southern Illinois penitentiary, William P. Smith of Platt County for member of the State board of live stock commissioners and Dr. E. G. Hirsch of Chicago for member of the State board of charities to succeed Ephraim Banning, resigned. The Senate has amended the House joint resolution fixing sine die adjournment for April 26 by substituting May 3 as the last day of the Legislature. The Senate reconsidered the vote by which a bill was passed Tuesday abolishing the State architect's office. The bill was sent to the judiciary committee.

The John Cramer library trustees have the consent of the State of Illinois to erect a library building on the lake front, Chicago. The bill was called up in the House by Capt. Farrell Thursday morning, was briefly explained by D. B. Sullivan, and was passed without a dissenting vote. It was laid before the Governor as soon as it could be engrossed and was signed by him. It is now a law. The Carnegie library bill, as it is called, also went to the Governor and was signed. It is the bill amending the State library law so that municipalities may purchase sites for library buildings. This will enable general Illinois cities to take advantage of gifts offered by Andrew Carnegie. The bill making death the penalty for kidnapping was advanced to third reading in the House. Mr. Hughes of Lee moved to strike out the death penalty. Messrs. Eignus, Miller of Stark and Warder opposed the amendment, and it was tabled.

Friday being the last day for the introduction of bills in the House except by unanimous consent, there was a flood, bringing the total up to 771. A teachers' pension law bill and a bill for a school for delinquent boys were offered by Representative Scroggin. The last named bill, drafted by Harvey B. Hurd, and the request of Mrs. J. M. Flower and other Chicagoans, provides a State home for "delinquent boys," boys who are wayward, but not criminal. It carries an appropriation for $100,000. It is provided that the site for the home, location not yet selected, must be donated to the State and must comprise not less than 20 acres of land. The Moran bill proposes to add to the teachers and school employees' pension and retirement fund one-half of the moneys received from the street railways for license fees or compensation under any ordinance or contract rights required by such street railways; provided that not more than $200,000 shall be added to the fund in any one year. The Forty-second General Assembly has entered upon the "homestretch" of its career. Four weeks, or five at the most, will be the measure of its life. Appropriation bills constitute the imperative business of a session, and they are well along. About thirty are on the House calendar. At most as many more have been passed.

The State Metropolis.

Differences between members of the late firm of Donohoe & Hemenway have been adjusted.

Lucey D. Whitman, the widow of John H. Whitman, who for nearly fifty years was connected with the Grand Trunk Railway Company, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edwin Sturtevant. Her death was caused by pneumonia—and a broken heart. Just three days before her aged husband and her companion for more than half a century had been laid to rest in Mount Greenwood cemetery.

Rate caused a fire at the home of Jennie J. Kornard, 950 West Monroe street. Policeman William Burns of the Varren police station imperilled his life in stopping a runaway.

John H. Miller, brother-in-law of Dr. William E. Brennan, 281 Forty-third street, has disappeared.

Among the widow, mother and two sisters the will of Charles H. Gurney distributes a $300,000 estate.

Norman Taubert, 4 years old, was run over by a milk wagon. He died soon after at St. Elizabeth hospital.

Carter H. Harrison was elected for the third time, mayor of Chicago, by a plurality of over 28,000 votes. It is quite evident that "Bobby Burke" "Bath House John," "Hinky Dink" and their ward heelers and followers are a greater power in Chicago politics than the combined effort of pulpit and press.

As an indication of the value of land in Walworth County, we learn that Lewis Felter recently sold a 50 acre farm there at an average price of $101.19 1/2 per acre. Mr. Felter also sold his stock and farming tools and has moved to Illinois where he expects to engage in business. Himself and family are now visiting with relatives and friends here.

Tuesday's Election.

The election Tuesday drew out a large vote for the annual Town Meeting, 383 votes being cast. The only opposition to the regular caucus nominees being a ticket, by petition with C. E. Van Patten for assessor, and Frank Hucker, for Road Commissioner. Following is the summary of the vote cast.
Supervisor,
A. N. Tiffany 230
Town Clerk,
C. M. Confer 257

Stephen Wennes 235
Seven votes were thrown out as defective.

The Village Caucus.

The Village Caucus held at the Town House, Saturday evening drew out about one-half the entire vote, and was fairly representative of the different elements in our municipal politics. The following nominations made for the various offices. President of the Board, E. C. Sabin; Village Clerk, J. C. James, Jr.; Village Treasurer, R. C. Higgins; Village Trustees, Fred L. Thorn, Wm. Pester and B. F. Naber. The ticket as a whole is very good, being made up of clean, progressive, representative business men of the younger generation and seem to give very general satisfaction, so much so that not a word of complaint has been heard from any one. There will be no opposition to the ticket of any kind, and THE NEWS trusts that at the close of their term they will merit the confidence and respect of the people in as high a degree as they do at the present time.

Village Election.

Notice is hereby given that the annual village election of the Village of Antioch, in the county of Lake and state of Illinois, will be held in village hall, in said village of Antioch, on Tuesday, the sixteenth (16) day of April, A. D. 1901 for the purpose of electing: One Village Clerk, One Village Treasurer, One President of the Board of Trustees, Three Village Trustees. The polls of which election will be open at Seven (7:00) o'clock in the morning and continue open until Five (5:00) o'clock in the afternoon of the same day.

Given under my hand at Antioch, Ill., this Third day of April, A. D. 1901.
Frank Pitman, Jr.,
Village Clerk.

"Last winter I was confined to my bed with a very bad cold on the lungs. Nothing gave me relief. Finally my wife bought a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure that effected a speedy cure. I can't speak too highly of that excellent remedy."

Has Antioch a Gold Mine?

Tuesday, Hiram Colegrove showed us a sample of a 24k, gold nugget, found among the dirt taken from a well on his farm, which was dug last fall. The history of the find is somewhat remarkable and is as follows: Along about Thanksgiving time he killed some tame ducks raised on the farm for table use, and in the crop of one of them a small gold nugget was found, together with several small particles. The nuggets were taken to Chicago and pronounced by the government assayer to be 24k gold of good quality. Later a search was made through the dirt taken from the well and several nuggets and quartz rocks were found containing a large percentage of gold, but whether there is "pay dirt" there in sufficient quantity to be worth developing, is not known at the present time.

Easter Ball and Cotillon.

Don't fail to attend the Cotillon and Ball given by Mrs. P. B. Campbell, next Monday evening, April 8, at the opera house, Antioch. One of the figures will be "A night in Purgatory," quite long enough if the imitation is anything like the real Purgatory. Monte Carlo is another very interesting figure, all depending upon luck. "The shaking of dice," figure will be very interesting to some of our Antioch boys. "The giant Bon-Bon" figure will suit the ladies. "The posing figures" are something that will make all of us laugh. "The potato figure" will appeal to all the audience. The last figure is by far the most beautiful, it being the "Serpentine Rock-ets" making one of the prettiest sights seen in a ball-room. Prof. Kuehner will furnish music. Dance Tickets $1.00 Super 25c. a person. Ladies without gents, 25c. The hall will be decorated for the occasion. The Cotillon will start at nine ending at 10:30, followed by a grand ball.

The Best Remedy for Rheumatism.

QUICK RELIEF FROM PAIN.
All who use Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism are delighted with the quick relief from pain which it affords. When speaking of this Mr. D. N. Sinks, of Troy, Ohio, says: "Some time ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism in my arm and shoulder. I tried numerous remedies but got no relief until I was recommended by Messrs. Geo. F. Parsons & Co., druggists of this place, to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. They recommended it so highly that I got a bottle. I was soon relieved of all pain. I have since recommended this liniment to many of my friends, who agree with me that it is the best remedy for muscular rheumatism in the market. For sale by W. H. Emmons, Antioch; Thomson's Pharmacy, Grayslake.

The Wisconsin Central Railway

was one of the first roads to penetrate the vast Northern Wisconsin Wilderness which stretches across the state from east to west. It also, has developed from year to year and today offers the best of transportation facilities, enabling all to ship the products of that section to any market in the world. Illustrated pamphlets can be obtained by addressing W. H. Killen, Land and Industrial Commissioner, Burton Johnson, General Freight Agent or James C. Pond, General Passenger Agent, Colby & Abbot Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis.

Card of Thanks.

To the many kind neighbors and acquaintances who have extended to us a helping hand during the long and painful illness of my beloved husband. I hereby wish to extend my heartfelt thanks for those numberless acts of kindness, and shall ever feel myself under the deepest obligation for all. To the Rev. Mr. Garrett, and the choir who furnished the music upon the occasion of the funeral; to the Modern Woodmen for their kind thoughtful and generous assistance and sympathy and to all others who manifested their sympathy by their presence and helps in our affliction. I shall ever pray that when they too are caused to pass through similar scenes, many kind and loving friends will hover around them, to anticipate their every wish, even as they have done for us.
